Generalissimo Franco's regime ...Spain and after numerous re... assertions of the Pope vigor... condemning communism, ...seemed to indicate the determination of the Vatican to carry on relentless war against the spread of communism as inimical to the church.

This same quarter said that Japan's action "tends to arrest Bolshevist penetration in Asia," and that the memorandum contains eight specific instructions, the more significant of which are summarized as follows:

"To assist wounded on both sides.

"To preach the necessity of China's comprehending the precepts of Japanese civilization and divesting herself, especially in certain districts, of ferocious Mongolian influence.

"To point out that China's rashness, provided the people rediscover the standards of their ancient civilization, will tend to permit gradual absorption of Japanese influence.

"Wherever Bolshevist danger appears active, to support, without reserve, Japanese action.

Willing To Collaborate

"To give Japanese military authorities the clear impression, that on the part of the Catholic church, there is no obstance to complete collaboration."

Missionaries also, the Vatican source said, have been instructed not to repeat and not to associate themselves in any propaganda against the United States or Great Britain but to combat such propaganda by emphasizing the protection given religious freedom in those countries.

The Vatican source summed up the church's policy as follows:

"It abstains from every sort of intervention between parties at war, since all men whom war massacres are dear to its heart, and since it hopes soon to see a reconciliation.

"But it takes care not to hamper in any way the swift activity of the Japanese army, which, even though it may aspire to final hegemony in China, has the immediate concern of obstructing any Bolshevist design."

Vatican sources said the Holy See views China as the "region in all the world most immediately and most easily exposed to Bolshevist invasion."

CONGRESS MAY JAM OVER BILL

Leaders Fear Anti-Lynching Measure May Delay Roosevelt Program.

MAY BE LONG BATTLE

Farm and Wage-Hour Legislation Expected To Escape Possible Obstacle.

By The Associated Press

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—Administration strategists, seeking swift approval of a five-point program at the special session of congress next month, faced the possibility today of a prolonged jam over the anti-lynching bill.

The senate, in order to get out of a parliamentary tangle in August, agreed formally to make the anti-lynching measure a special order of business immediately after a vote on farm legislation at the next session.

This agreement, parliamentarians said, was so worded that it holds for the special session called by President Roosevelt.

Leaders expressed the belief the agreement would not endanger wage-hour or farm legislation but would throw a serious obstacle in the way of the President's three other proposals.

These are government reorganization, creation of regionally planning authorities modeled after the TVA, and strengthening of the anti-trust laws.

The wage-hour bill already has passed the senate and would not be sidetracked by the anti-lynching debate unless the administration should unexpectedly abandon the bill now awaiting house action and should submit a new one.

Bill's Progress Slow

No legislation in recent years has stirred such determined group hostility as the anti-lynching bill.

TEMPERATURE DROPS TO AUTUMN LOW HERE

Frost Accompanies 31-Degree Cold But Does Little Damage; Snow in Columbus.

Although the temperature dropped to 31 degrees here last night, the lowest point of the fall, the accompanying frost was little more damaging than others this season.

Fruit and vegetable growers here said the frost was not of the black or killing variety, although, they added, there is little left at this season of the year to be damaged.

The government weather bureau forecasts continued cold and a killing frost for tonight with fair and slowly rising temperature Friday. The temperature drop to 31 last night followed a high reading of 59 during the day.

While the sun was shining brightly here this morning Columbus was experiencing its first snow flurries of the fall. The Associated Press reported. It was the earliest snow there in 16 years, the weather bureau reported, the earliest snow having been on Oct. 12 in 1917 and again in 1921. The temperature of 32 last night was the coldest Oct. 14 in the history of the Columbus weather bureau.

Death Has Never Entered Large Family of Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Gruber.

WHEN the 11 children born to Mr. and Mrs. I. J. Gruber of east of Marion on the Columbus-Sandusky road gathered at their home Sunday to join in their golden wedding anniversary celebration, they formed a family circle unbroken by death, that is believed to have few parallels in Ohio.

The 11 children, ranging in age from 30 to 49, know of no other family group so large in which all members of the family have lived to join their parents in a golden wedding anniversary party.

The entire family lives in central Ohio with the exception of Mrs. Ethel Oviatt of Sanford, Fla. Her annual visits to Ohio in the fall have been the occasion for family reunions at which all of the children invariably are present.

Father Also One of 11

Mr. Gruber, who is 72, contends his life has been doubly enriched by large families—he was one of 11 children and is the father of 11. In both the family circles of 11, seven boys and four girls were born.

When the family reunion is held, there also are 27 grandchildren and six great-grandchildren to swell the attendance.

Mrs. Oviatt, 49, is the oldest of the children. She is the wife of an ice plant manager at Sanford, Fla. Next comes George Gruber, 48, a farmer living one and one-half miles west of Delaware. Two years separate the ages of the remainder of the family, listed in the order they were born as follows:

Chester Gruber, a farmer living on route 98 five miles east of Marion; Low Gruber, a pump factory worker of Columbus; Foster Gruber, a carpenter residing two miles east of Marion on the Mt. Gilead road; Mrs. Marie Pace of one and one-half miles east of Marion on Route 95, wife of an Erie roundhouse worker; Harry Gruber of West Columbia street, a Steam Shovel Co. employe, Mrs. Fannie Markley of 376 Quarry street, wife of an employe of the Baker Wood Preserving Co.; Marion Gruber, a farmer living three miles east of Waldo; Frank Gruber, a traveling representative of the Yeager road machinery company of Columbus; Mrs. Lucille Weber of Columbus, wife of a Columbus druggist.

All Born on Farms

All the children were born on farms near Marion where Mr. and Mrs. Gruber, lifelong residents of the county, lived at different times. Mr. Gruber is still active as a painter.

Two of the older children had left home before the youngest was born, and consequently the family has been together only at Sunday dinners and reunions.

TEACHERS DISCUSS THEIR REQUIREMENT

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14 — A suggestion that educational requirements of teachers be raised was posted at the top of discussion subjects for an Ohio education conference meeting here today.

State Director of Education E. N. Dietrich said the topic was for discussion only and not for action as he offered a proposal to require high school teachers have a master of arts degree and elementary teachers to have four years of college work. The present requirements are a bachelor degree and two years of college, respectively.

Dietrich said the three-day conference included superintendents and training authorities of city, exempted village and county schools and members of the department of education.

UNIFIED FAITHS EPISCOPAL AIM

Leaders Invite Presbyterians To Merge and Indorse Proposed World Council.

TO TAKE PART IN PARLEY

Decide Not To Join Federal Hookup Until After International Conference.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14 — The Protestant Episcopal church pledged its cooperation today in a movement which some theologians hope eventually will unite the world in one Christian faith.

First, it invited the Presbyterian Church in the U. S. A. to consider steps for achieving organic union, and Second, it indorsed the proposed world council of churches and agreed to send two delegates to a preliminary conference in Holland in May, 1938.

At the same time, however, the church's triennial general convention here, through which the cooperative moves were made, decided not to join the federal council of churches of Christ in the United States until after the conference on the world council.

The invitation to the Presbyterians was said by informed churchmen to be the most important and definite step the Episcopal church has ever taken toward union with another denomination. It has been holding conversations with the Presbyterians and Methodists for several years, has approached the Lutherans, and is considering opening negotiations with the Reformed Episcopal church.

Possibilities of physical union with the Presbyterian church in the near future are considered remote, but proponents hope to pave the way with an early agreement on fundamental principles of doctrine.

The convention authorized a commission to negotiate with representatives of the Presbyterian church on the draft of a concordat.

It invited the Presbyterian church to join with it in accepting the following declaration:

"The two churches, one in the faith of the Lord Jesus Christ, the incarnate word of God, recognizing the holy scripture as the supreme rule of faith, accepting the two sacraments ordained by Christ, and believing that the visible unity of Christian churches is the will of God, hereby formally declare their purpose to achieve organic union between the respective churches.

"Upon the basis of these agreements the two churches agree to take immediate steps toward the framing of plans whereby this end may be achieved."

MAYOR'S OUSTER MOVE OPPOSED

By The Associated Press

CHILLICOTHE, O., Oct. 14—A motion of the Ross County Citizenship league asking dismissal of the ouster appeal of former Mayor James E. Ford was on file in common pleas court today.

Attorney Phil D. Butler, representing the league, contended that Ford's appeal from his removal by Common Pleas Judge H. W. Jewell of Delaware, who presided here by assignment, was not filed by Oct. 1 as ordered by the appellate court.

A.F.L. ELECTION HELD AT FINAL SESSION TODAY

Green's Reelection Seen as Certainty; Convention City To Be Selected

APPROVE JAP BOYCOTT

C.I.O. Accepts Challenge of Opponents To Assume "Union Responsibility."

By The Associated Press

DENVER, Oct. 14—Delegates met today in what was scheduled to be the last session of the American Federation of Labor's 57th annual convention, with election of officers and selection of the 1938 convention city slated this afternoon. Reelection of President William Green, probably without opposition, was generally accepted as a certainty. Frank Morrison, veteran secretary-treasurer, also was slated for reelection.

The president and secretary, together with 15 vice presidents to be elected, will comprise the federation's executive council, which will meet after the convention ends.

Although several other cities were mentioned as possible choices, the contest for the 1938 convention apparently centered around bids of Houston, Tex., St. Louis, Chicago and Birmingham.

Want Jap Boycott

The A. F. L. convention voted yesterday to join British labor in a boycott of Japanese products because of the Japanese invasion in China.

President Roosevelt's call for creation of new domestic markets through increased purchasing power drew praise from an A. F. L. spokesman who earlier this week criticized provisions of the administration's wage-hour bill.

Matthew Woll, A. F. L. vice president and president of the American Wage Earners Protective conference, telegraphed the President "your declaration for the upbuilding of the American market is magnificent, dazzling in the possibilities it holds forth."

At Atlantic City, meantime, John L. Lewis' committee for Industrial Organization set out to justify its claim of being the peer of labor by accepting the challenge of "opponents" to assume "union responsibility."

Want Written Contracts

Adopting a permanent national policy for the first time, leaders of 32 affiliated C. I. O. unions unanimously approved a resolution yesterday to cooperate with employers in administration of collective bargaining agreements which, they said, must be written contracts.

There were vociferous clamors from some delegates to the C. I. O. conference, principally from automobile and west coast maritime workers, that "unwarranted" actions of employers frequently made drastic union action—such as sit-down strikes—imperative.

But, no opposing voice was raised when Philip Murray, chairman of the Steel Workers' Organizing Committee, who supported the resolution called for a voice vote.

In the temporary absence of Lewis himself, Murray and Sidney Hillman, chairman of the Textile Workers' Organizing committee, led the victorious fight to establish the premise that the C. I. O. must adopt a firm policy toward observance of collective bargaining agreements.

POLICE RADIO SETUP OPERATES IN KENTON

Messages Sent Under Call WKMP; Permanent Permit Due in 30 Days.

Special to The Star

KENTON, Oct. 14—The Kenton police radio system started operation last night and today was busy sending out its own short wave messages under the call of WKMP, under authority of application T2PP488.

Police Chief R. R. Clark received a wire Wednesday afternoon authorizing construction of the local unit, which has been ready to go for the past few weeks. The permission to construct will permit the local system to operate 30 days, at end of which time a permanent permit will be granted.

The broadcasting unit will be kept in a compartment which no one except a licensed radio operator is permitted. A licensed operator will be on duty at all hours of the day and night. The local system will cooperate with the state highway system at Findlay in broadcasting crime messages.

GAS FIRM WANTS SUIT TRANSFERRED

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14 — Transfer to federal district court of the $42,000,000 damage suit against the Columbia Gas & Electric Co., was requested by the firm in a petition on file in common pleas court today. The concern is one of the seven utilities companies named by City Attorney John Davies as defendants to charges that they adulterated natural gas sold to 500,000 Ohio consumers.

Mrs. Hahn's Jury Includes 1 Man And 11 Women

Cincinnati Blond Faces Murder Charge in Poison Death of Elderly Acquaintance.

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14—A jury of one man and 11 women was seated today to hear the murder trial of Mrs. Anna Marie Hahn, accused poison slayer of 78-year-old Jacob Wagner.

Seven men were excused during examination yesterday when they told Judge Charles S. Bell they opposed the death penalty, two on the grounds they would not consider circumstantial evidence, and one because he said he had formed an opinion.

Prosecutor Dudley Miller Outcalt indicated the state will depend upon circumstantial evidence in its case against the 31-year-old German immigrant charged with administering a fatal potion to Wagner, an acquaintance in the former "over the Rhine" district.

Chief Defense Attorney Joseph H. Hoodin indicated his defense during cross-examination when a question put to a prospective juror was overruled.

"I want to ask you whether under the circumstances described by the state, if there was an eye-witness—because we will produce one—and then it is shown there is a possibility of numerous other persons having committed this crime, if there was a crime committed, would you then acquit her?"

EVANGELIST CHARGED WITH DOUBLE MURDER

Kentucky Man Accused of Slaying Estranged Wife, Auto Salesman.

By The Associated Press

LEXINGTON, Ky., Oct. 14 — Miller Olmon Johnson, 47-year-old evangelist, faced arraignment today on warrants charging him with the double murder of his estranged wife and an automobile salesman at Mrs. Johnson's home last night.

Two brothers of the slain salesman, William Rue, 37, said he had been keeping company for several months with Mrs. Johnson's daughter, Lelia, 23, and planned to marry her.

Police Sergt. Speed Sherrow said Johnson signed a statement admitting the shootings and asserting he saw Rue and Mrs. Willie Johnson, 42, together in the living room when he returned last night to see one of his children.

Gilbert and Stanley Rue, however, told reporters their brother was a "victim of mistaken identity."

Frank Utterback, a collector for a grocery company, said he was at the Johnson home when the small, gray-haired "interdenominational" preacher arrived, and heard him say something to Rue about "going with my wife." He said he left the house, and as he entered his automobile, he heard two shots.

Rue's body was found on the threshold of the front door. He had been shot through the neck. Mrs. Johnson, shot in the chest, was found dead in the bedroom of the three-room house.

Johnson surrendered at police headquarters a short time later, tossing a gun on Sergt. Sherrow's desk.

Sherrow said he understood Johnson had returned this week from Ashland, Ky., where he had conducted a revival meeting.

Johnson said he and his wife had been separated about a year.

Otterbein Wants To Share Co-ed Honors in Ohio

By The Associated Press

WESTERVILLE, O., Oct. 14—Otterbein college asked today for a place in Ohio's esteem because of its early recognition of women in college work.

President W. G. Clippinger acknowledged Oberlin and Antioch rights to recognition in co-educational pioneering but contended that Otterbein should share it. Oberlin's coeducation centennial celebration last week brought from Clippinger the assertion:

"A fair distribution of honors would be to give Oberlin credit for being the first to graduate women in 1841; accord to Otterbein the honor of being the first to throw open its doors to women without restrictions in 1847, and to credit Antioch with being the first Ohio college to send forth women graduates on terms of complete equality with men."

EXECUTORS NAMED FOR OWENS ESTATE

Court Appoints Robert C. Owens, H. J. Barnhart and M. C. McNeil.

Judge Oscar Gast in probate court yesterday afternoon appointed Robert C. Owens, Harry J. Barnhart and M. C. McNeil as executors of the will of the late Clifford A. Owens, Marion manufacturer. Robert C. Owens, the son of the deceased, was proposed to the court as a third executor by Mr. Barnhart and Mr. McNeil, both of whom were named as executors in the will.

Last Saturday Judge Gast declined to appoint Frank D. Glosser of Bucyrus and formerly of Marion as an executor because he is interested in the Crawford Steel Foundry Co. of Bucyrus, a competitor of the Owens interests included in the estate. Under the terms of the will in which Mr. Glosser had been named as one of the three executors, the remaining two were required to propose a third. The appointment of Mr. Glosser had been objected to by the son.

The three executors appointed by the court immediately named R. E. White of the National City Bank & Trust Co., M. C. O'Brien of the Fahey Banking Co., and Ben T. Want, attorney for the Osgood interests here, as appraisers of the estate.

The executors were ordered to file a joint bond of $75,000 in form of sureties.

Robert C. Owens' application for appointment as administrator is automatically dismissed by his appointment as an executor.

There was no hearing yesterday as the appointments were made in a formal written entry of the court. Mr. Owen died July 28 and his will was probated in August.

BANKERS HEAR AYRES SAY CREDIT IS SOUND

Clevelander Declares Prospects for Banking Profit "Are Fairly Bright."

By The Associated Press

BOSTON, Oct. 14—Leonard P. Ayres, internationally-known economist, told the American Bankers' association today that no credit collapse like that of the great depression "is now possible."

Ayres, chairman of the A. B. A. economic policy commission and vice president of the Cleveland, O., Trust Co., declared the prospects for profits in the banking business "are fairly bright."

The economist said the bank crisis of five years ago resulted from a sudden and world-wide drop in general price levels which drastically reduced the values of securities, real estate and commodities.

"Under those conditions business men could not pay their debts as they fell due and the value of collateral behind loans became utterly inadequate," he said. "As a consequence bank depositors everywhere hurried almost simultaneously to withdraw their funds.

"No collapse of general price levels on a similar scale is now possible for the simple reason that we had the collapse several years ago. It is an anomalous fact that bankers should now be worrying about inflation while shaping their policies to guard against a great deflation. This is particularly inappropriate in view

G-Men Silent on Exact Destination as Bandit Boards Plane at Dawn for Hop from Bangor.

GUARDED CLOSELY.

Faces Charges of Triple Murder in Slaying of Two Indiana and One Ohio Patrolman.

By The Associated Press

BANGOR, Me., Oct. 14—A cabin plane winged westward with the dawn today carrying Bindy gangster James Dalhover to a destination that was the secret of his G-men captors.

At the city airport one federal agent said the survivor of the midwest gang cut down in a gun battle Tuesday would be taken to Indianapolis, another said Chicago.

Myron Gurnea, who led the FBI men in springing the trap that left Al Brady and Clarence Lee Shaffer Jr., dead in a downtown street here, still was tight-lipped.

"You'll have to figure that out when we're in the air," he told questioners asking his destination.

Pilot Heads West

Only the pilot, Gurnea, other G-men and Detective Meredith Stewart of the Indiana state police were with the manacled prisoner when the cabin plane took off at 5:10 a. m., eastern standard time.

The pilot quickly shaped a westward course.

Bangor Police Sergt. Carl Lobely, who drove a police cruiser piloting Gurnea and Dalhover from police headquarters to the airport, said he "understood" the "front man" of the Brady gang would be taken to Chicago.

Dalhover, clad in a heavy overcoat and a gray felt hat, pulled down over his eyes, was taken from his cell in a surprise move by the G-men.

Gurnea, Stewart and one other federal agent rode with the bandit accused of at least four slayings.

Four G-men, armed with tommy guns, followed.

Brings Bandit Food

Only the usual guard was around the cell block which Dalhover alone occupied when Gurnea appeared shortly before 5 a. m., bringing the bandit a cup of coffee and a sandwich.

The taciturn sleuth gave Dalhover a few minutes to eat; then he was on his way—apparently to face trial on one or more of the many charges against him.

They included indictments charging murder of an Indianapolis police sergeant, Richard Rivers, and Trooper Paul Minnaman of the Indiana state police. Police Capt. Frank Foley of Bangor said Dalhover also had admitted the slaying of Highway Patrolman George Conn at Freeport, O.

Meanwhile, with Brady's body still in a mortuary, apparently still unwanted, hints of new arrests came from federal agents today as the body of Clarence Shaffer Jr., slain with gang leader Al Brady, went home to Indianapolis.

Case Not Finished

"The case is not closed; the trial is not ended," said Gurnea.

Worlington hinted the arrests would be based on information given Gurnea and his men by Dalhover during two days of questioning, but Gurnea's only comment was, "there will be no further statement."

Even behind cell bars, Dalhover wore the manacles snapped on his wrists when he surrendered Tuesday.

He ate with the cuffs cramping his movements. Meals were shoved through the bars by a guard, who let the prisoner have a fork but no knife.

Undertaker Malcolm White said Brady's body would be turned over to the federal men if not claimed within 48 hours.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14 — Col. Lynn Black, superintendent of the Ohio highway patrol paused in Cincinnati today en route to Indianapolis, where, he said, he expected James Dalhover, wounded member of the Al Brady gang, to arrive by plane from Bangor, Me., "by 2 p. m."

FRANCE TO REENTER PARLEY AT LONDON

Agrees To Take Part in Debate on Spain But Keeps Ready for Action.

By The Associated Press

PARIS, Oct. 14 — France is willing to re-enter debate in the London non-intervention committee on withdrawal of foreign soldiers from Spain, sources close to the foreign office affirmed today, but is equally prepared for action in event "dilatory" procedure develops.

Authoritative persons predicted the French council of ministers, called for today, would approve the decision made in a preliminary session yesterday.

A three-point program, it was said, already had been drafted to cover the French attitude now that Italy had refused to join the Paris and London governments in a conference on withdrawal of Italian troops from the Spanish Civil war. It was outlined thus:

First—France agrees to submit the "volunteer" question to the London committee but demands consideration of a definite plan within six to 10 days.

Second—France and Britain will state their positions either separately or jointly but will maintain a common attitude on the entire problem.

Third — Paris reserves the privilege, in the event the 27-nation committee is unable to agree on a method of withdrawing foreign troops, of scrapping the neutrality pact and resuming commercial relations with the Spanish republican government.

The French reservation would include the privileges of making arms shipments across the Pyrenees frontier and of taking "technical" measures to protect her communications in the Mediterranean.

ATTACK ON COUPLE BRINGS 50 YEARS

By The Associated Press

COLUMBUS, O., Oct. 14—Sentences totaling up to 50 years assessed for an attack on a Dover couple less than two weeks ago brought Vandy Lee Matheus, 19-year-old Negro, to Ohio penitentiary today.

His arraignment last night at a barbecue stand in Tuscarawas county was arranged by Common Pleas Judge E. E. Lindsay and Sheriff Wayne Host to prevent possible violence due to high feeling against Matheus in that county.

Crowds visited three jails seeking him the night of Oct. 4 after he was charged with fracturing the skull of Forrest Lantzer of Dover and assaulting Mrs Lantzer. However, he had been taken to the Cuyahoga county jail for safe keeping.

NEW MORTUARY OPENING SET FOR THIS WEEK-END

Merle H. Hughes Establishes Funeral Home in Remodeled Residence on Mt. Vernon Avenue.

Formal opening of the Merle H. Hughes Mortuary at 316 Bates street will be held Saturday and Sunday. The mortuary is in the former George C. May residence at the intersection of Baker street and Mt Vernon avenue which recently was purchased by Mr. Hughes for conversion into a funeral home.

Open house will be held both Saturday and Sunday from 10 a. m. until 10 p. m. with Mr. Hughes and a staff of attendants on hand to conduct visitors through the home.

The resident has been remodeled and redecorated to meet its present needs, the lower floor being with chapel and family rooms for funeral services and a preparation room. The rooms have a seating capacity of 125 for funeral services.

In addition to the purchase of the Mt. Vernon avenue residence Mr. Hughes also purchased the brick house on East Church street immediately to the rear. This building has been converted into a casket display room. Eventually, Mr. Hughes said today, this building will be removed to make way for a new building devoted exclusively to funeral purposes.

Before opening his own establishment here Mr. Hughes for eight years was associated with the C. E. Curtis & Co Funeral Home as embalmer and funeral director. He is a graduate of the Cincinnati College of Embalming.

Employed as assistant in the new home is Elgin R. Wells of Coshocton, also a graduate of the Cincinnati College of Embalming. Mrs. Hughes will act as lady assistant.

ARREST 4 BOYS FOR CHICKEN COOP RAIDS

Judge Gast Instructs Parents To Pay More Attention to Children's Leisure Time.

Four boys, ranging in age from 7 to 11, whose after-school diversion allegedly consisted of taking chickens from a coop at the rear of a South Prospect street residence were rounded up by police yesterday afternoon on complaint of the owner of the chickens.

Juvenile Judge Oscar Gast, disposing of the case last night, didn't delve into the details of why the chickens were taken but concentrated his attention on the parents of the alleged offenders.

The parents were instructed to concern themselves with what their children did in leisure hours.

Police were called yesterday at 4 p. m. when the children allegedly paid their second visit to the chicken coop within a period of a few days. They found two boys on the roof of the coop and saw others running. Four were rounded up by the time the case was turned over to Judge Gast. The complainant said the boys took one chicken in their previous visit and had thrown one over the fence yesterday, police reported.

ANTI-LYNCHING BILL MAY JAM CONGRESS

it passed the house this year, but never has even reached the stage of formal debate in the senate because of filibusters.

When the farm bill is out of the way, however, the anti-lynching bill can be displaced only by a majority vote. In view of support for the measure, senate leaders forecast its ultimate passage.

Whether southern senators will try seriously to delay a vote in view even the most optimistic administration chieftains held out little hope for quick action.

The first of the President's measures likely to be delayed by the anti-lynching debate is the government reorganization bill. It already has been approved by a special committee headed by Senator Byrne.

Meet on Wages, Hours

Members of the house rules committee may meet in advance of the special session to discuss possible terms for releasing their stranglehold on the wage-hour bill.

Chairman O'Connor, Democrat of New York, said he was considering sending such a request immediately to all committeemen.

Failure of congress to enact the bill last session was one factor which prompted President Roosevelt to call the extra session Nov. 15.

The senate passed the measure. The house labor committee approved it. But the rules committee held it up when Republicans teamed up in the opposition with southern Democrats.

O'Connor said it would be futile for committee members to try to keep the legislation from the floor because the house was certain to bring it to a vote by means of a petition, if necessary. Two hundred eighteen members must sign the petition.

By granting of its own accord a resolution for consideration of the measure, he said, the committee could insure two or three days' debate and ample opportunity for amendment.

Predicts Passage

"The bill," he said, "in my opinion will be passed by the house without more than 75 votes against it."

If a petition is utilized, the measure could not be called up for debate until Dec. 13 because of parliamentary rules. In that event, it might be impossible to complete action on it before congress stops work for the Christmas holidays.

The wage-hour bill would create a labor standards board with broad powers to fix minimum wages up to 40 cents an hour and a maximum work week of not less than 40 hours in industries engaged in interstate commerce.

It would forbid child labor, but would exempt agricultural and most seasonal workers.

Barkley Expects 5 Bills To Pass

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Five of the administration's leading legislative measures probably will be "out of the way" by Christmas, Sen. Alben W. Barkley of Kentucky, majority leader, said today upon his return from Europe.

"It looks," he said, "like we will get the farm control bill, wages and hours legislation, government reorganization, regional planning, and strengthening of the anti-trust laws out of the way by Christmas."

Sen. Barkley said he was not surprised President Roosevelt had called a special session of congress to convene next month.

"I knew the President would call one if the farm control legislation seemed urgent," said Sen. Barkley. "It will shorten the regular session very decidedly and I am sure everyone wants a shorter session, although it must not be shortened inconsistently with legislative needs."

NON-SUPPORT CHARGE

George J. Moore, 35, a cook for the Erie railroad at Mansfield was arrested and returned here yesterday to face a non-support charge filed in municipal court by Mrs Alice G Moore of Marion. Moore was returned here by Deputy Sheriff W. H. Wills. Following his appearance in municipal court this morning the charge was held open and he was released upon his agreement to contribute $4 a week to the support of a minor child. The charge had been filed Oct. 8 and accused Moore of not contributing to the child's support since April 1, 1937.

of the federal guarantee of deposits."

The resolutions committee urged the bankers to take a stand against branch banking across state lines and reported "large and consistent gains for industry commerce and agriculture" during 1937.

The committee report favored "the preservation and continuation of the dual banking system by which banks are free to operate under either state or national charter.

Of government expenditures and budget, the committee declared:

"From recent expressions by those high in authority in the national government, we are pleased to note a determination to balance the federal budget. While recognizing that unusual economic circumstances and necessary efforts to relieve human suffering and deprivation under emergency conditions justified unusual expenditures of public funds and being aware of the difficulty involved in the effort to balance the budget, nevertheless we believe that a return to a balanced budget should be the prime objective of a sound fiscal policy."

CITY MAKES PLANS FOR SEWING CENER

Approval by State WPA Headquarters Awaited Before Reopening Project.

Although definite approval has not yet been received from state WPA headquarters city officials were mapping plans for reopening the sewing center here as soon as approval is given.

Revival of the sewing center, which operated on a greatly reduced basis during the summer before closing completely about six weeks ago, is among a number of projects recently submitted to WPA headquarters by city officials. The new project has been set up on the basis of giving employment to 52 women.

Arrival of winter and a greatly increased demand for clothing for relief families, especially from those with children in school, has made resumption of center especially important, city officials said. In addition the employment of the 52 women is expected to make self supporting at least some families in which there are no other employable persons.

The problem before city officials today as they await approval of the project is procuring of supplies and materials with which to begin operations. Mayor Smith is making inquiries from WPA officials as to the type of clothing which the center is equipped to make and others are in touch with the needs of relief families in order to determine the kind of materials to be purchased.

As sponsor of the project the city is responsible for the purchase of materials while the federal government pays the wages of the women employes and other administrative expenses.

David A. Enlo, who established headquarters at Jackson, O. to handle the purchasing, declined to say what prices would be paid. About half of the apples bought will be U. S. No. 1 grade, most of the others utility or better grades, and some slight utility or better grades.

MADRILENOS DIG OUT OF BARRAGE DEBRIS

Scores Killed and Wounded as Rebel Guns Send Some 700 Shells Into City.

By The Associated Press

MADRID, Oct. 14—With pick and shovel, stricken Madrid today dug herself out of the debris of another disastrous insurgent shelling while ambulances hauled uncounted scores of dead and injured.

The former republican capital resumed its "normal" life after a night of abject terror in which some 700 artillery projectiles poured into the heart of the city.

The bombardment caught Madrid just as after-theater crowds were streaming homeward and the casualties probably were higher than on Monday night. That attack, claiming more than 100 lives, was unleashed when most of the inhabitants were within the protection of their homes.

Scores of bodies were dragged from demolished houses in the early morning darkness.

The hotel where Madrid's foreign visitors are housed was hit for the first time in the more than 11 months of insurgent siege. Many buildings nearer the ministry of state were caught by the screaming projectiles.

The two-story ministry building itself was hit squarely by four shells. Apparently this structure was the chief target of the insurgent gunners. Most of the foreign newspapermen work there. Glass was shattered and cordite (an explosive) fumes filled the building.

COUPLE 16 AND 64 OFF ON HONEYMOON

By The Associated Press

LEBANON, O., Oct. 14—Sixteen-year old Mary Edna Metcalf was honeymooning with Jesse Jenkins, 64, today—a mixup in which the girl's mother signed the marriage license in mistake, all settled.

The mother signed the application in the belief, she said later, it was a formal consent for the minor daughter's marriage.

The error was discovered when the couple visited a minister who refused to perform the ceremony because of the disparity in their ages.

Jenkins and his bride were married by Justice Wade Brown.

SHELLS BLAST SHANGHAI AREA

Kill and Wound 100 Chinese Civilians in International Settlement.

By The Associated Press

SHANGHAI, Oct. 14—Great shells hurled into the heart of Shanghai's international settlement today, killing and wounding more than 100 Chinese civilians.

The Japanese and Chinese armies were battling with renewed fury for control of the approaches to the orient's most important commercial city. The roar of overhead as Chinese attempted to raid the Japanese airfield in the Yangtze estuary and swirled along the western edge of the international settlement.

U. S. marines were forced to evacuate two huge cotton mills outside their defense lines where they had been quartered.

None of the marines billeted in the mills was wounded but Elmer Hunt, private in the Fourth regiment, was struck in the shoulder by a rifle bullet while manning a machine gun defense post.

Six miles west of Shanghai additional 75 Chinese civilians were killed when Japanese warplanes bombed a passenger train on the Soochow-Kushing railroad.

American Injured

An American sailor, J. P. Mechanical, of Connersville, Ind., a radio man aboard the flagship of the United States Asiatic fleet, was slightly injured when shrapnel from Japanese shells sprayed the cruiser Augusta lying at anchor in the Whangpoo river.

The Japanese naval commander, Admiral Kiyoshi Hasegawa, apologized for the incident after United States Admiral Harry Yarnell protested against reckless firing by the Japanese warships.

One gigantic projectile of undetermined origin exploded in the settlement near the foreign Y. M. C. A., killing and wounding 35 Chinese civilians. Forty more were killed and injured when the street car they were riding in was blown off the tracks near the barricades held by American marines on the northern edge of the settlement.

Police reported that at least half a dozen other shells, believed to be Japanese anti-aircraft shells, fell in the settlement. Ten persons were killed and wounded when one shell crashed into the Avenue road, one of Shanghai's main thoroughfares.

German Office Hit

Other projectiles smashed through a window of the Carlowitz Co., a German firm next door to the British-American Tobacco Co. and near the navy Y. M. C. A., struck the Avenue road police station.

All the Japanese warships all the way down the 12 miles of the Whangpoo river to the Yangtze estuary joined in the ear splitting crescendo as they attempted to drive off the Chinese raiders.

For a time the Japanese anti-aircraft fire seemed concentrated above the French concession where one shell was reported to have fallen, injuring a boy.

At the same time the warships were bombarding the Pootung area on the opposite side of the Whangpoo from Shanghai's bund with their heaviest ordnance. The Chinese machine gun crews in Pootung joined in, taking advantage of the opportunity to pepper the Japanese cruiser Idzumo and other ships to drive off their anti-aircraft crews.

SERMON GIVEN ON CHURCH LANDMARKS

"Remove Not the Ancient Landmarks Which Thy Fathers Have Set" was the subject of an evangelistic sermon given last night at the revival services at the Pilgrim Holiness church by Rev. H. L. Holtzapple. The speaker pointed out four fundamentals of Christianity. The first, repentance, must be as deep and thorough as our sin, he said. The second, confession, is only partial with some people, like the man who confessed stealing a rope but failed to confess stealing a cow attached to the rope, Rev. Holtzapple said.

Restitution, the third of the fundamentals, is correcting wrongs with people who have been wronged and the fourth, separation, is the separation from worldliness, the speaker said. Rev. Holtzapple will speak tonight on "Millions Now Living Are Already Dead."

Harding Seeks Revenge for Past Losses To Findlay

Only One N.C.O. Grid Tilt On Program for Week-end

Only one contest, Shelby's Friday night invasion of Lane field in Bucyrus, looms on the North Central Ohio conference schedule this week. Neither of the teams has won a league game this season and the battle on the Crawford county field tomorrow night will find both teams fighting for a better position in the standings.

Mt. Vernon, Galion and Marion, considered the leading contenders for the 1937 N. C. O. crown, will be active outside the league, while the sixth member, Ashland, is also taking on a non-conference opponent. At the present time Mt. Vernon and Galion stand deadlocked at the top of the N. C. O. heap both having turned in victories in their two league encounters. Harding will get its first taste of N. C. O. opposition next week at Ashland.

Mt. Vernon stepped out as the strongest contender for the current crown by its decisive victories, 31 to 0, over Bucyrus and 21 to 0, over Shelby. Galion has taken the measure of Bucyrus, 27 to 20, and Ashland, 27 to 0. In the only other league game, Ashland and Shelby battled to a 7-7 deadlock. This week while Marion is entertaining Findlay's Trojans, Ashland will entertain Wooster, Mt. Vernon will be host to Circleville and Galion will travel to Bellevue

SOX DEFEAT CUBS FOR CHICAGO TITLE

American Leaguers Win Fourth Consecutive City Series in Seven Games.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 14—It took them longer than usual to prove it, but the White Sox of the American league, are still Chicago's city baseball champions, and $548.54 apiece wealthier.

The Sox, who devoted a total of eight games to conquering the National leaguers in 1933 and 1936, had to go back to 1931 for precedent this time, but cleaned up the problem yesterday by winning the seventh game, 6 to 1, behind the sparkling hurling of John Whitehead. Thus, the White Sox made it four city series in a row, as well as their 15th triumph, against six Cub victories and one tie.

BERSERK WRESTLER STAGES 1-MAN RIOT

Kayoes Referee Twice; Subdued by Five Policemen and Helpers.

By The Associated Press

CLEVELAND, Oct. 14—Referee Bull Weideman painfully rubbed his injured jaw today and hoped police would have a straight jacket handy when the rasslin' fraternity comes to town again.

Twice he was kayoed last night when Orville Brown, erstwhile village blacksmith of Wallace, Kansas, knocked temporarily nuts by heavyweight champion Everett Marshall, started a one man riot that took five cops, four rasslers and two customers to quell.

The berserk blacksmith, however, didn't know anything about it until 20 minutes later in the showers. "I don't remember anything," he said, "after that pile driver landed me on my head. Well, I'm glad nobody was killed."

Flattenum Blond Marshall retained his heavyweight title on Weideman's decision but certain of the customers sneered that Weideman wasn't entirely out of his coma when he rendered the verdict. Official time: 34:10. Time of riot: 15:22.

Lord Patrick Lansdowne, of Birmingham, England—born Wilbur Finran in Springfield, O.—defeated Bob Blake of Omaha in a preliminary bout.

UPSTATE FOE WINNER OF ALL GAMES WITH MARION SINCE 1928

Cramermen Go Through Stiff Workouts in Preparation for Friday Game.

Marion's unbeaten Presidents, when they trot out on the Harding stadium turf for a floodlight football game tomorrow night, will seek to accomplish what seven preceding Harding grid aggregations were unable to do... score a win over the powerful Findlay High Trojans.

On the bottom so long that the story of defeat at the hands of Findlay has become monotonous by repetition the Cramermen this year will have the opportunity to fare far better than most of their predecessors, comparative scores show. Findlay this season has broken even in four games, while Harding has won three and tied one.

Harding veterans grimly recall the 27 to 0 beating Findlay handed Marion last year, but even deeper than that is the record of previous drubbings at the hands of the Trojans. Since 1928, the Presidents have been unable to cope with the consistently strong Findlay team and during the interim have gone down to defeat in every clash with the upstate powerhouse.

In 1929 Marion was on the short end of a 26 to 6 count, and the following year Findlay rolled up 48 points while the Presidents went scoreless. Not to be outdone, the 1931 Findlay team blanked Harding, 56 to 0. The teams did not meet in 1932 and in the past four seasons Findlay turned in victories by scores of 33 to 12 in 1933, 18 to 7 in 1934, 7 to 0 in 1935 and 27 to 6 in 1936.

By playing heads-up football and fighting every bit of the way, the Cramermen this year have the opportunity to turn the tables on the invaders. The Presidents, however, can't expect to win with the listless football they showed against Mt. Gilead, or the intermittent flashes of power displayed against Delaware. It will take another display of fighting spirit, the type that last week sank the hopes of Lima South, to turn back the Findlay attackers.

Last night's practice for the Presidents found them working out on offensive plays with the backfield under Coach Cramer's direction and Assistant Bill Williams handling the line. Apparently gaining a lesson from Southern California's one-point win over Ohio State when the Bucks were unable to score extra points from placement, Coach Cramer had Dick Kemmerly practice a full hour on that all-important scoring chance.

Kemmerly booted 23 consecutive kicks that sent the oval soaring directly between the uprights and upon his accuracy may depend the outcome of Friday's game. Right end Raymond Rudson, who suffered a sprained wrist in last week's game, was on the field last night but took part only in limbering up exercises. His services, along with those of Quarterback Howard Diehl, who was injured in the Delaware Willis game, are expected to be available for the game. The return of both men will bring the team to its full strength.

The varsity club will hold another brief drill session tonight, part of which will be under the incandescents, Cramer announced at the close of the workout yesterday. Other plans for the contest and a tentatively scheduled preliminary are virtually complete. Reserve teams of Harding and Findlay will meet at 6 o'clock on the Harding turf, if the weather and field conditions are good.

Whether the preliminary will be played is to be determined at noon tomorrow. The varsity game is to start immediately following it, with the kick-off set for 7:45 o'clock. Assembly rallies will be held at Harding high school tomorrow morning and the school band will march through the uptown section in a pre-game parade at 7 o'clock.

Probable starting line-ups for the game follow:

| Marion | Pos. | Findlay |
|---|---|---|
| Kemmerly | LE | Newman |
| Stephenson | LT | Tayler |
| Baker | LG | Rooney |
| Flick | C | Smith |
| Whittemore | RG | Hummen |
| Martin | RT | Wittenmyer |
| Hudson | RE | Hayes |
| Harper | QB | Van Voorhis |
| Castner | LH | Fekete |
| Williams | RH | Wolfe |
| Zeisler | FB | Van Fleet |

Will Wildcats Claw Up Purdue?

One of the headline football events Saturday is the clash between Northwestern, Big Ten champions last year, and Purdue at Evanston, Ill. Don Heap heads the offense for the Wildcats while Cecil Isbell is the backfield star of the Boilermakers, coached by Mal Elward and captained by Tackle Clem Woltman.

NEW YORK, Oct 14 — If Marshall Goldberg's popper does not turn up for Pitt vs. Fordham, here's why: the old gent got frisky, spotted 21 points on Pitt, and dropped 40 smackers to a West Virginia supporter....Now he's in the doghouse at home and how! .....Calling all printers: Come on out, boys---Mlle. He'll get $105,000, a comfortable fortune, for managing the Yanks for the next three years.

OHIO NORTHERN TO PLAY HEIDELBERG IN HOMECOMING GAME

Marion, Kenton Gridders on Starting Lineup for Saturday Contest.

Special to The Star

ADA, O., Oct. 14—Ohio Northern university will be host to the Heidelberg Student Princes when they meet the Polar Bears in the annual homecomign tilt here, Saturday, Oct. 16.

Because of the intense rivalry in athletics between the two schools a record breaking crowd is expected, and additional bleachers have been erected to take care of the fans.

The teams will be fairly matched for the contest, Heidelberg having won two and lost one, and Ohio Northern having won two and tied one. Heidelberg was trounced 26 to 0 by Muskingum last week while the Polar Bears defeated Ashland 19 to 6.

Offensively this season in three games played the Student Princes have scored 27 points while the Polar Bears have picked up 25. Defensively the Polar Bears are stronger, having held their opponents to eight points while Heidelberg's have scored 33.

Heidelberg has yet to win from Ohio Northern since football rivalry between the two schools was renewed three years ago. The Polar Bears have won two and tied one with the Student Princes since Harris Lamb has been head mentor here.

Coach Lamb is taking no chances, however, and is giving the Polar Bears stiff offensive workouts against the "frosh" in preparation for the Student Princes.

He is satisfied with the progress his sophomore backs are making, but hopes to improve the blocking before the Polar Bears meet Heidelberg.

Casimir Newdome, Cleveland, quarterback, is fairly recovered from a dislocated elbow and will probably see action in the Heidelberg game for the first time since the start of the season.

In the starting line-up against Heidelberg Coach Lamb will probably use Nemic, Neff, center; Covault, Troy, and Augur, Kenton, guards; Ford, Ironton, and Gustin, Lima, tackles, and Virgil and Millard Murphy, Bellefontaine, ends. In the backfield, Kane, Lorain, quarterback; Winters, Marion, and Novak, Elyria, halfbacks, and Malone, Geneva, fullback.

Reds' Manager Listed As One of Highest Paid

BY TOMMY DEVINE
United Press Staff Writer

The smallest city in the major leagues, Cincinnati, will have one of the highest paid managers in baseball next season. The salary Bill McKechnie will receive under his new contract with the Reds is said to be $30,000 per season. The only major league pilots receiving more are Joe McCarthy of the world champion New York Yankees; and Bill Terry of the pennant-winning New York Giants. McKechnie's salary also will be the highest ever paid a Cincinnati manager.

The hottest baseball rumor to develop after the annual gathering of club officials at the recent world series was that Larry MacPhail, former president of the Columbus Red Birds and later general manager of the Cincinnatai Reds, would re-enter baseball in 1938. MacPhail devoted his entire time during the past season to investment interests in Michigan, but reports are that he will become business manager of the Brooklyn Dodgers before the start of another year.

A giant waterproof blanket recently was purchased to protect the playing field at the Ohio State stadium from pre-game rains or snows. The blanket is constructed in six pieces, each measuring 82 by 104 feet. The combined area of the covering is 1.17 acres. The giant blanket weighs 9,660 pounds. More than 50 gallons of special airship and balloon cement were used on the seams and there is no sewing in the entire cover.

Clavton Matowitz, a son of Cleveland's chief of police, is a member of the St. Ignatius high school football team this fall. He is a tackle and weighs 210 pounds.

Charley Cupp, lanky forward and the king-pin of the University of Toledo's basketball team last season, played professional baseball during the past summer with the pennant-winning Union Springs team of the Alabama-Florida league. A first baseman, Cupp hit over .300 and expects to advance next spring in the St. Louis Cardinals "chain."

BIG TEN GRIDDERS WORK FOR CRUCIAL SATURDAY CONTESTS

Purdue Will Attempt Upset of Northwestern's Title Holders; Coaches Optimistic.

BY WILLIAM WEEKES
Associated Press Sports Writer

CHICAGO, Oct. 14 — Saturday, the day when Purdue's Boilermakers invade Dyche stadium, looks like upoff day on Northwestern's chances of hanging on to the Big Ten football title.

The Wildcats weren't the choice to repeat before the season started—Minnesota having been accorded the favorite position—and their victories over Iowa State and Michigan didn't prove to Coach Lynn Waldorf that he has another title eleven.

Although they took a beating from Ohio State in their opening Big Ten start, the Boilermakers showed so much improvement in overcoming Carnegie Tech last week that they appear ready to fulfill pre-season promise.

Down at Illinois, Bob Zuppke was almost outspokenly pleased with the improvement in offensive power as the Illini wound up heavy work for Saturday's battle at Indiana. Coach Bo McMillin of the Hoosiers, was forced to patch up his backfield when he learned that Bill Anderson, a passing star against Minnesota, would not be able to operate against Illinois because of injuries.

Minnesota practiced in secret as Bernie Bierman experimented with backfield combinations in preparation for the Michigan invasion. The Wolverines, whose work pleased Harry Kipke earlier in the week, lapsed.

Irl Tubbs gave Iowa's squad another long offensive scrimmage in an effort to develop punch before meeting Wisconsin. The Badgers were let off with a light drill.

Chicago staged another spirited workout and showed enough stuff offensively to generate hopes of a victory over Princeton this week. At Notre Dame, Elmer Layden indicated he planned to take a chance on sophomores against Carnegie Tech.

Baseball Trading Season On; Pirates Keep Traynor

MANY CHANGES IN SIGHT; DEAN AND MUNGO MENTIONED

Leiber, Schumacher and Ott Among Those Who May Be Shifted.

By SID FEDER
By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 14 — The hot stove league opened its season today on a situation bearing all the earmarks of one of the busiest trading seasons in years.

From end to end of the big leagues, with the possible exception of the world champion New York Yankees, who are satisfied with things as they are, it looked like the ivory will be moved around in wholesale lots. The dealings in diamond material were started off last week when the Cardinals gave one-for-four in a rather profitable piece of business with the Brooklyn Dodgers, but that was only the start.

Most talk at the moment revolved around the uniforms of Van Lingle Mungo and Dizzy Dean will be wearing next season, as well as the changes rumored in store for the National league pennant winning Giants.

Leiber, Schumacher Mentioned

When the Terry Terriers finished getting their ears knocked off by the Yanks in the World Series, there was considerable rumor that several members of the current cast would be hanging their hats in new locker rooms, come 1938. Hank Leiber, the power-hitting center fielder; Hal Schumacher, the right-hander who hasn't been on too good terms with Boss Bill Terry, and even Melvin Ott, idol of the Polo Grounds, have been mentioned as trading bait.

Incoming, if you listen to the chatter, will be Mungo, Brooklyn's temperamental fireballer, who spent most of the 1937 season nursing his rage (and a bankroll sliced by suspension) down in the Black Hills of South Carolina, after rowing with the Dodgers. There is also rumor that Diz Dean, after his most disastrous season, will move in from St. Louis to Coogan's Bluff.

But the Chicago Cubs may have something to say about that. If you listened to the talk behind the scenes during the series, you could have heard lots of the "experts" telling that the Cubs are ready to lay it on the line for the "great one."

Cubs Remodeling

Certain it is that the Cubs are playing no favorites in making over the team that couldn't hold its lead in the National league race. Shortstop Bill Jurges, pitcher Larry French and walloping outfielder Frank Demaree have been brought up in discussions Cub officials have had with both the St. Louis Cardinals and Cincinnati Reds. And it is known that the Cubs have had longing eyes for some time on Mungo or Dean or both.

Connie Mack, after several seasons of selling, as been quoted as ready to make some cash outlay to bolster the likely looking youngsters he brought into his Athletics last season. A second baseman is the big need.

The Cardinals, after obtaining Joe Stripp, Johnny Cooney, Jim Bucher and Roy Henshaw from the Dodgers, may use one or all as trading bait, particularly, if you believe the rumor, Stripp in a deal with the Giants.

Cincinnati's Reds need lots of everything, what with Kiki Cuyler retiring, and may try to trade off some of their up-and-coming rookies. Detroit's Tigers are supposed to be eyeing the Washington Senators to take up for their lack of pitching, particularly those flinging rookies brought up by Washington late this year.

PRO GOLFERS VIE IN OKLAHOMA CITY

By The Associated Press

OKLAHOMA CITY, Oct. 14—Some of the nation's greatest professional golfers today open their campaign to strengthen their bank balances with a share of Oklahoma City's first annual $5,000 four-ball tournament prize.

Jimmy Thomson, one of the game's longest hitters, and Tommy Armour, runnerup for the 1935 P. G. A. crown here, turned in 64s, seven under par at the Oklahoma City golf and country club, as they turned up for competition.

LOOK OUT BELOW

Up, but not over went Yale's All-American Captain Clinton Frank as he tried to hurdle an opponent in a recent game with Pennsylvania, but the Quaker clung to Frank's legs, limiting his gain to a single yard. Nevertheless Frank went on to spark the team to victory.

PITT LINEUP FOR GAME UNCERTAIN

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14—Pitt's Panthers headed today for New York and their game against the Fordham Rams, with Coach Jock Sutherland still undecided on the starting lineup of the Rose Bowl champions.

Sutherland said Frank Patrick may replace Bill Stapulis at fullback; and Frank Souchak may take over Bill Daddio's left end post. Daddio, All-America candidate, was injured in the game with Duquesne last Saturday.

BUCS MANAGER TO STAY ON JOB; TEAM ACQUIRES RIZZO

Columbus Outfielder Goes to Pittsburgh for Two Players and Cash.

By The Associated Press

PITTSBURGH, Oct. 14—Harold J. (Pie) Traynor, an old Buccaneer himself, will guide the Pirate brig again next year.

President William E. Benswanger of the steel city's baseball club announced today that Traynor had signed a contract to manage the National League entry in 1938.

Benswanger added:

"In line with Pirate policy, the contract is for one year."

Traynor was one of the classiest third basemen in the big show during the years he danced at the "hot corner" for Pittsburgh from 1920 until his retirement from active play two years ago.

He said at 35 when he succeeded George Gibson as manager in June, 1934, that he would "keep on plugging until I bring a pennant winner to Pittsburgh." He still has to achieve that ambition.

The mild-mannered man who got his nickname because of a boyhood fondness for apple pie brought his club home in fifth place that season and landed fourth in 1935 and 1936.

The team finished third this year.

Fans generally agreed that the long string of victories chalked up by the Bucs late in the season virtually cinched Traynor's job.

"The owners of the Pittsburgh club have the fullest confidence in Trayor and believe that, everything considered, he has done a very creditable job," Benswanger said.

The Pirates, in the midst of a reconstruction program, last night bought from the Cardinals outfielder Johnny Rizzo, sparkplug in the pennant victory of the Columbus team of the American association.

Four other top-flight minor league players have been acquired recently.

Rizzo, hailed as a "second Joe Medwick," batted .358 for Columbus.

The value which the Pittsburgh front office places on him was indicated by the exchange of catcher Tommy Padden, rookie first baseman Bernard Cobb and a "considerable sum" to St. Louis.

HARPSTER IS NO. 1 IN SPORTSMANSHIP

Harpster high school's basketball team was accidentally omitted from the list of squads in this district rated according to sportsmanship by registered officials who last year handled the various scholastic games, published in last night's edition of The Star. Harpster's rating of one, which is excellent, places it among the foremost in sportsmanship according to the poll conducted by the Ohio High School Athletic association.

WOODWORTH COACH AT U. OF CINCINNATI

By The Associated Press

CINCINNATI, Oct. 14 — Wade "Red" Woodworth, former All-American guard at Northwestern university, took in charge as head coach today a University of Cincinnati football team which has lost four straight games this season under coaching of H. Russell "Russ" Cohen.

A "strike" of football players sent Cohen back to his Georgia pecan farm and put Woodworth in his place as head coach.

Friends of Cohen disclosed that members of the Bearcat squad, bitter over four consecutive defeats this year—topping five last season—met yesterday and demanded a change.

Advised of the situation, Cohen dispatched assistant Coach Bob Lewis to Woodworth, a line coach, with instructions to "take over."

President Raymond Walters announced Woodworth's appointment along with acceptance by the athletic committee of the board of directors of Cohen's resignation.

Cohen declared in a formal letter to the board that the "best interests of the team and the university would be served by an immediate change in the coaching situation." He recommended Woodworth for the post. The move was approved by Athletic Director Dana M. King.

Cohen came to Cincinnati this fall from Vanderbilt university at Nashville as head coach.

Cohen, in the final season of a three year coaching contract, had headed a team criticized by alumni and "down town coaches" for five defeats the Bearcats suffered last year. They won one and tied three. He said the resignation was voluntary and "is due partly to my illness."

STOCKS CLIMB IN THIN TRADE

Coppers and Specialties Mostly in Demand But Many Hug Sidelines.

By The Associated Press

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—Coppers and specialties attracted buying attention in today's stock market but many leaders met with speculative indifference.
While gains running to a point or so were in the majority near the fourth hour, volume was considerably under that of yesterday and there was more than a handful of losers.
Outstanding news from the market's standpoint was scarce and brokers reported the sidelines again crowded with customers.
Bonds were mixed. Rail and utility loans displayed improved tendencies. Commodities were trendless.
Selling of impaired margin accounts, and cashing of profits on Wednesday's rallying steels, broke down quoted values at the start. The list stiffened, though, after these offerings were absorbed.
In favor most of the time were shares of Anaconda, Kennecott, Westinghouse, General Electric, du Pont, American Radiator, Oliver Farm, Wheeling Steel, National Steel, Chesapeake & Ohio, Sears Roebuck, Macy, National Distillers and Continental Oil.
Narrow to down a point or more were U. S. Steel, Bethlehem, General Motors, Chrysler, U. S. Rubber, American Telephone, Western Union and International Harvester.
In relation to market prospects, one prominent commission house quoted excerpts from a private business survey made for a well-known corporation. Among these were:
"During the last two months there has been a definite deterioriation in the business outlook. Industrial momentum has slackened materially and business confidence has fallen to the lowest ebb in three years.
"It now seems this country is facing not a new depression for which there is insufficient economic justification, but a period of readjustment or consolidation common to economic advance. Business must now pay the penalty for rising too fast last fall and winter. Consumption must be allowed to catch up with production and commodity prices to fall back into equilibrium. Once this adjustment has taken place, and excepting the event of an economic catastrophe, such as a major European war, industrial and trade activity will move on to new high levels."

REALIZING ERASES WHEAT PRICE GAINS

Million Bushel Export During Last Four Days Sends Qoutations Up.

By The Associated Press

CHICAGO, Oct. 14—Late selling to realize profits on price upturns virtually wiped out wheat market gains today after a maximum rise of 1½ cents a bushel.
Upturns of wheat values were largely based on estimates that for four successive days the export purchases of United States hard winter wheat had averaged 1,000,000 bushels. Unsettled weather in sections of domestic winter crop territory southwest accounted for some late selling.
At the close, wheat varied from 1¼ decline to ¼ advance, Dec. 97⅛-98, May 96½-⅝, corn ⅛-¼ down, Dec. 58¾-⅞, May 59⅝-½, and oats ⅛-½ up.

THEY SIT IN WALLY'S TUB AT BALTIMORE

Hostess at Duchess' Former Home Explains English Woman Started Practice.

By The Associated Press.

BALTIMORE, Oct. 14—Maybe it works and maybe not but Mrs. W. W. Matthews said most of the visitors to Wallis Warfield's former home sit in the bathtub for luck.

Mrs. Matthews, "hostess" at the little house on Biddle street, explained an English woman started the practice shortly after the house opened as a museum.

"She said it was good luck to sit in the tubs of famous women," Mrs. Matthews related. "She said she had sat in lots of famous tubs all over Europe—Cleopatra's and Marie Antoinette's. She was determined to get into the tub and she did."

The tub doesn't look like a tailsman—it's just an ordinary white bathtub on legs, the sort found in lots of old houses. It doesn't match the flashing facsimilies of the five crowns Edward, King of England, gave up to marry Mrs. Wallis Warfield.

The facsimilies are on display in the house. So are nine pictures of the present duchess of Windsor, at the ages of two months, six months, 18 months and so on. Edward has only three pictures, but there are two statuettes of him.

Mrs. Matthews said she doesn't know whether to believe all that about the tub, but her visitors do.

"Nine out of 10 of them get into it," she said, "men, women and children. Then they get me to take their pictures. One bride and groom got in, hugged, and handed me the camera."

She didn't know whether it made any difference in the luck if the tubs were full or empty.

But so far, she was very positive, they've all chosen it empty.

Your Health

BY DR. R. S. COPELAND

Hernia.

RUPTURE, or "hernia," as the doctor calls it, is a weakness of structure in certain portions of the body. As a rule it is a weakness that was present at birth, but in many instances it is acquired. It may follow a severe blow, fall, strain or exertion.

The abdominal wall is the part most frequently involved. In infants it is common to discover a weakness of the muscles around the umbilicus, the "belly-button", this condition is often temporary. In adults the rupture may be found in the inguinal region, the groin. Inguinal hernia is more common in males than in females.

Neglect of a hernia is dangerous. I say it is dangerous because sometimes it becomes strangulated. That is, the knuckle of intestine which makes up the content of the hernia-sac may become twisted, or the tissues through which it protrudes may become constricted and pinch the intestine. In either case there is interference with the normal circulation of blood to the parts. Then there is severe pain, and, unless the obstruction is overcome by immediate surgery, a serious and even fatal result may follow.

The weakness of the tissues is not particularly important in itself, but the danger is what may happen to the loop of intestine that slips into the sac. It is this menace that makes it important to correct the trouble by operation.

Unfortunately, too many persons avoid surgery because they fear the "knife." They depend upon a truss, or some other mechanical appliance. This practice is unwise in a case suitable for operation, because no hernia can be cured by the use of a truss. For elderly persons who cannot be operated upon, the use of a truss is quite all right.

Bear in mind that the operation for hernia is a simple one. In the hands of a competent surgeon, it need not be feared. When successful, the good results are permanent and restore the individual to normal condition.

For those who fear the operation, the so-called injection method is now offered as another means of relief. But it must be borne in mind that only a certain percentage of hernia cases can be treated by injection. Of course, it has many advantages. It means no loss of time from work and no stay in the hospital with the usual hospital expenses.

IT'S ODD
But It's Science

By HOWARD W. BLAKESLEE
Associated Press Science Editor

NEW YORK—Even a piece of glass recovers from a cut. Like a cut finger, its strength comes back, although its "scar" prevents full recovery.

The explanation is found by Merton W. Jones and Julian M. Blair of the University of Colorado, in the Journal of Applied Physics. They noted that glass marked by a glass cutter became more difficult to break if allowed to stand for some time.

Tests showed that a glass scored by the cutter recovered 30 per cent of its strength in 16 days—most of this recovery in the first two days.

Polarized light showed the reasons. This light shows strains in glass in blue and red colors. Under the scratch of the glass cutter, the colored patterns of strain shot out into the channel surrounding the scratch. But if the glass were not broken, these colors slowly receded, indicating recovery of strength.

Mar Dona, black mare owned by George Dix of Delaware, was judged junior champion and reserve grand champion American-bred mare and best two-year-old.

Legenea, gray mare owned by Frank Dewey of Ostrander, was reserve senior mare, reserve champion American-bred mare and best five-year-old.

Grand champion and senior champion was Lancinante, owned by Conner's Prairie farm at Nobelsville, Ind.

The dairy show extended a welcome today to a visiting "queen," The Associated Press reported.

Ohio's health queen, 17-year-old Margaret Topovski of Wooster, acted as official hostess to Wisconsin's dairy queen, Alice Baker, 18, of Edmund, Wis., who wore a Dutch milkmaid costume.

Miss Baker's show appearance schedule called for her to be guest of honor tonight at the Guernsey banquet and to carve—with the aid of Gov. Martin L. Davey—a 2,100-pound Wisconsin cheese Friday afternoon. A piece of the cheese will be given to each show visitor.

Jersey cattle judging continued and Guernsey and Brown Swiss judging began.

Mourma, $4,500 cow owned by Cranberry Run farm at Youngstown, was named grand champion and senior champion Jersey. Second honors went to Wonderful Snowdrop, owned by Mrs. George D. Eustis of Madisonville, O., with the reserve grand championship for females.

Lafontaine Starlight II, owned by Mrs. W. H. Clark of Kansas City, Mo., took the junior female championship.

Canada's grand champion Ayrshire bull, La Moines Point Enterprise owned by W. C. Pitfield of Cartierville, Que., won grand champion and senior champion titles.

UPPER SANDUSKY MOTORIST FINED

Adelbert Thomas, 22, of Upper Sandusky was arrested last night at 8 o'clock on state route 23 at the south limits of Upper Sandusky on a charge of reckless driving by state highway patrolmen from the Marion sub-station. He was fined $15 and costs when he pleaded guilty before Mayor Oscar Veith of Upper Sandusky. Patrolmen accused Thomas of driving on the highway from a side road without stopping and at such a high rate of speed that his car careened to the left side of the street.

Crankcase still full after 1200 miles with SOHIO Motor Oil!

"SOHIO stations give extra good service, especially in keeping a careful check on the oil level. I cover about 40,000 miles a year and find that with SOHIO Motor Oil I don't have to add any oil between my 1000-mile drain periods. Forgot once, and after 1200 miles the crankcase was still full."

(Letter from Chevrolet owner of Belle Center. Name on request.)

"As one lubrication man to another . . you do a swell job!

"Having sixty pumps and costly turbines to oil every day, I have to be up on the requirements of good lubrication. To me, your most important service is your oil inspection and dependable lubrication. SOHIO Motor Oil is a real bargain. As one lubrication man to another—want to say you do a swell job."

(Letter from Ford owner in Akron. Name on request.)

Get safe protection . . . at 5¢ to 10¢ LESS per quart!

Enthusiastic users say that SOHIO Motor Oil saves you money three ways—
- a lower price!
- fewer repair bills because of SOHIO'S rich, tough film of protection!
- less oil used between drains!

Technically, SOHIO Motor Oil's remarkably high "viscosity index" is the reason why this lubricant gives such thrifty results . . . the reason why it has become three times more popular than any other premium-quality motor oil sold in Ohio. Ask for SOHIO, next time—and learn for yourself why "it's a long time between quarts."

Emphasize Scope Of Y Program As Drive Nears

... the Y. M. C. A. ... Marion was emphasized ... leaders in the or... campaign for $12... Monday, as they ... the importance of ... drive "over the top." A ... citywide program of ... building, religious ... and educational ... on the maintenance ... Y. M. C. A., a record ... work in the last 12 ... months.

For example, the Y, through ... with other agencies ... the NYA, is carrying ... recreation into the ... centers of the city ... sportsmanship and high standards of fairness and courtesy are taught while organized recreation is being enjoyed. Through these playgrounds, scores of boys and girls also have been brought into the activities at the Y. M. C. A. building where groups are constantly busy in club programs that include a study of religious and life problems and wholesome recreational facilities are provided.

Program Is Varied.

Hundreds of boys and girls pass daily through the doors of the Y building to take part in organized play, study or work. The activities vary from gym classes to a workshop where articles of practical use are made, and from ping pong to the annual hobby exhibit the Y sponsors.

An indication of the wide scope of interests encompassed by the Y program is shown by records listing 411 full paying members, 588 part paying members and 1,885 persons in various groups who pay nothing. The latter figure represents the membership of 188 different groups such as school groups related to the Y and underprivileged children who, though unable to pay for their benefits, perhaps have the greatest need for the influence of the Y.

Six hundred and eighty-one boys, girls, young men and young women took personal problems to Y officials in confidential interviews in the last year seeking a solution of problems and advice.

One hundred and eighteen boys and girls, most of them ages 9 and 10, were taught to swim while hundreds of others enjoyed the facilities of the Y pool.

Jobs were found for 65 boys and girls whose distressing circumstances caused Y officials to lend a hand in the solution of their problems. Thirty-five transients, many of them young men, were given a night's shelter and a word of encouragement when they stopped at the Y for help.

Place for Meetings.

Church, school and club groups use the Y regularly for meetings, 15 different tournaments were held on the two gym floors in the last year and 10 organized gym classes keep the two floors busy. From 4 p. m. to 10 p. m. each day there is a change of groups on the two gym floors every hour during the busy winter months.

Nine Y organizations make religious and life problems a definite part of their programs and six of them are engaged in organized educational activities.

In calling for the support of the community, E. N. Hale, Y secretary, emphasized that while it is difficult to place a yardstick on the work the Y accomplishes, there is an abundance of tangible evidence to show some of the benefits. Adult persons frequently relate how phases of their Y training remained with them since boyhood and girlhood, and friendships are formed at the Y that have existed for years. Some groups that formerly met as boys still meet occasionally as men—the Y-Indus group was cited as an example. It holds annual reunions to renew the associations formed while the members were in high school.

Clerk Needs More Space To Administer Auto Law

Commissioners Will Consider Problem Today; New Measure Effective Jan. 1.

County commissioners were to consider today in their semi-weekly meeting the request of Clerk of Courts Carl P. Haberman for additional office space which probably will be required to administer a new state law affecting automobile title registrations.

The law, effective Jan. 1, provides that no bills of sale will be used after that date and that instead there will be issued a "certificate of title" for all cars purchased after the first of the year. The law does not affect persons who already have bills of sale for their automobiles and have no intention of selling.

Receives Copy.

Mr. Haberman has received a sample copy of one of the certificates. Chief innovation is listing all liens on the car. With 90 per cent of automobile sales involving liens of one kind or another, the law assumes new significance because the purchaser does not get the true certificate of title. The true title goes to the lien holder until the lien is satisfied. The purchaser is given a memorandum which will enable him to purchase license plates.

Another new provision is that the certificates themselves can not be made out except by the clerk of courts and his staff. In the past auto dealers have been able to fill out bills of sale with the aid of a notary.

The new law is also expected to weigh heavily against operators of stolen automobiles, since it will be extremely difficult to obtain title to a car without presenting the original title or the original owner. Several states have adopted similar systems.

Space at Premium.

Two possible means of expansion are open for the clerk, either to the common pleas court witness room to the east or the court reporter's office to the north. Both would require remodeling to be made into suitable office space.

It is possible however that the revenue from the new system will far more than offset the cost of any expansion either of space or office help. When the certificates are complete they will bring in as much as $1.05 cents each, Mr. Haberman said. Last year there were some 11,000 bill of sale transactions in the clerks office and basing an estimate on that $11,550 could be realized in a year. Bills of sale cost 25 cents each of which the county receives the entirety. The county receives 65 cents of the $1.05 charge for issuing a certificate of title and registering a lien. An additional 30 cent charge is made for cancellation of the lien, the county receiving all of it.

Each day the clerk must forward to the state bureau of motor vehicles the records of the day's business, a procedure which is expected to require considerable time.

YOU NEED THESE
life-saving advantages
CONCRETE

From your own experience you know that concrete is the safest road. Its even surface makes driving easier, reduces nervous strain and results in better car control. Its gritty texture improves traction and braking, resists skidding, wet or dry. Because of its flat "crown" drivers don't tend to ride the center of the road—passing is safer.

Concrete makes night driving safer. Its light-grey surface reflects more light, helps you see better. Illuminates obstacles and pedestrians. Sharply defines the edges and helps you stay on the road.

Highway officials are striving to reduce traffic accidents. Urge them to pave with concrete and secure for your community the safest as well as most economical pavement money can buy. You can benefit by your active interest as many others have done.

NEW PONTIACS SHOWN HERE

McDaniel Motor Co. Has Display of Six and Eight Cylinder Models for 1938.

Pontiac automobile models for 1938, retaining the distinctive features developed by its designers and stressing safety and style in its mechanical refinements is on display today at the McDaniel Motor Co. at 309 West Center street. New treatment of the front, optional remote control gear shift lever, relocation of the battery beneath the hood, synchromesh transmission and new interiors compose the major features of the new models.

The optional remote control gear shift lever is located just beneath the steering wheel and takes over the functions of the conventional lever. The Pontiac, as in previous years, is offered both in a six-cylinder car with a 117-inch wheelbase and an 85-horsepower motor and an eight-cylinder car with a 122-inch wheelbase and a 100-horsepower engine.

A modern and balanced instrument panel highlights the interior and dictates the tone. It is slightly more vertical than last year and safety is emphasized by the half-round roll forming the lower side into which are built the controls. Of special interest to short drivers is the adjustable front seat arrangement whereby the back becomes more vertical as the seat is moved forward.

The center radiator grille of the car has nine vertical chrome plated bars which extend up and over the entire length of the hood. The radiator side grilles are formed by a horizontal chrome bars curved to correspond with the contour of the radiator shell. The parting line of the hood permits the upper section to be raised to service the engine.

Radiator ornaments are redesigned in modernistic manner, new polished die-cast shield concealing the headlamp bracket cavities. On the eight, parking lamps have been tailored into the top of the head-lamps to form a single unit. The hood side grille differs on the eight from the six in that it has three chrome mouldings instead of two.

Because of the increased demand for electrically operated accessories, the generator charging capacity has been stepped up an average of 30 per cent.

Models on display at the McDaniel Motor Co. showrooms at present are: six-cylinder—coupe, two-door sedan, two and four-door touring sedan; eight—two-door sedan and four-door touring sedan. Other models of both lines are expected within several days.

DELAWARE IN TILT OVER WATER TANK

Council Rejects Offer of Site South of Park; Plan To Use Park Land.

Special to The Star

DELAWARE, Oct. 14—Offers of ground south of the city park as a site for the new, elevated water storage tank to be constructed here were rejected Tuesday afternoon at a meeting of city council called by Mayor Sidney A. Rowland. Council indicated at its Monday night meeting that it would hold to the plans of constructing the new tank in the city park.

Citizens opposing the location in the park on the grounds that it would ruin the beauty of the surrounding landscape and lower real estate values were represented at the Tuesday meeting by Prof. Benjamin T. Spencer of University avenue.

The tank is being built to furnish water for the city in the event that the main water line north of the city might be broken when it is moved during a highway improvement project north of Delaware and to increase water pressure and fire protection service in the southwestern part of the city.

Engine manifold vacuum is utilized in a new gear shifting device for automobiles, being controlled by a small lever extending from beneath an instrument panel.

—And Furthermore

THE PRESIDENT'S latest "fireside chat" reminds his countrymen that even before the new deal they worried about the tremendous burden their chief executives were carrying. Compared with what the job has become under Mr. Roosevelt, it was a snap in those carefree days.

Mr. Roosevelt pledged himself Tuesday night to give personal attention to raising low wages and shortening hours. He promised to conserve national wealth and readjust the country's economic system. He will handle the centuries-old problem of farm surpluses. He will straighten out confusion about the philosophy of democratic government, which has been revealed to him especially. He will reorganize American government to make it work better. He will take a leading part in statesmanship in the far eastern crisis. He will do likewise in the European crisis. He will call a special session of congress Nov. 15 to get prompt action on problems of the present and will insist that problems of the future be solved without any further monkey business in the regular session. He will continue to spend public money where it's needed and he will balance the budget, too. These are just high points, a handful of the things with which President Roosevelt feels called upon to deal.

And in his spare time, his countrymen remember breathlessly, he collects stamps and ship models.

It is not criticism of Mr. Roosevelt's speech, but recognition of a fact to say that it covered more ground than his countrymen with merely ordinary imaginations can gallop over, or even survey easily from a fixed position. There was something in it about almost everything under the sun, from what the Roosevelt administration is going to do for the crossroads, right on up to its plans for improving the world. It takes time to digest such a serving of improvement. Each man must partake according to his tastes and needs.

Government, everywhere, takes in a lot of territory these days. The style is to proceed as though everything were possible if men only would put everything into the hands of political leadership. This is a phenomenon of the age—a triumph of what might be called the creed of following the head man to salvation. With such exceptions as must always be made for this always exceptional country, President Roosevelt's latest "fireside chat" testifies that the United States isn't far out of style.

Community Boosters.

A FEW days have passed since Farm Agent Anderson and five other representatives of Marion county agricultural interests gave their radio program from station WOSU but we hope it is not too late to convey congratulations and an expression of appreciation.

It was thoroughly enjoyable for all listeners and at the same time was a most convincing and effective portrayal of Marion county's merits. It was valuable advertising for the county, especially because of the sincerity and enthusiasm that marked its presentation. The program left no doubt regarding the numerous advantages of Marion county in the minds of listeners in other sections of the state.

This brings to mind the thought that while opportunity for radio broadcasting and other avenues of publicity is not available to people generally, they do have ways, through travel and conversation, for boosting the home community. This farm group showed us that the amount of subject material available for "talking up" Marion county to the country at large is virtually unlimited.

Hazardous Occupation.

THERE'S a certain amount of glamor about the diplomatic service—far places, momentous missions, serving the Stars and Stripes and so forth. In spite of the fact that the pay's bad and chances of advancement none too good, diplomats do have that little something about them which gives distinction to certain occupations.

This is the background for reading about the death of J. Theodore Marriner, American consul general to Syria, assassinated by a disgruntled Armenian. It's the background for reading about another attack on automobiles of the British embassy in Shanghai. It's the background for the information that Sir Hughe Knatchbull-Hugessen, British ambassador to China, who almost was killed by a similar attack six weeks ago, is convalescing in Manila.

For the time being, all the glamor has been rubbed off the diplomatic service. It's just another hazardous occupation, like truck driving, except the hours are longer.

Lippmann Continues Discussion of European Prospects for Peace Which He Began Tuesday.

By WALTER LIPPMANN

Walter Lippmann

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—In Tuesday's article I said that for peace of a kind—a peace which did not involve total mobilization and total war among the great powers—there would seem to be a fair chance. Today I should like to try to define somewhat more specifically what this means.

To do that I shall assume it to be true that three great national states — Japan, Germany and Italy — are engaged in the enterprise of establishing new empires: an Asiatic empire in the Orient, a Germanic empire in central and eastern Europe, a new Roman empire on the shores of the Mediterranean and in Africa. This is a fair assumption. Their rulers proclaim this to be their intention. They verify what they say by what they do. There is no reasonable doubt, I believe, that we have already seen the creation under our very eyes of three completely militarized nations, ruled by warrior castes and bent on conquest.

It is also true that the new empires can be created only on the ruins of the old empires—those of Britain, France and the Netherlands—and by the destruction of the international order which was evolved between the fall of Bonaparte and the rise of his present-day successors. We can see most clearly in the Far East what the ambitions of the new imperialists mean. There the progress of Japanese imperialism has already involved the destruction of all treaties and of all rules of law, the destruction of vested rights and the expulsion of all the Western powers from any position of influence in the Orient.

What has happened there would have to happen also in Europe if the Germans and Italians are to realize their ambitions of empire. Let no one think that their ambitions are fantasy and opera bouffe; they are as genuine as those of Julius Caesar or of Napoleon Bonaparte, and they are to be taken no less seriously. In order to realize Hitler's empire and Mussolini's, France must be pushed back within her frontiers and Britain must be isolated on her island. It must, so to speak, become as safe to shoot the British Ambassador on the road to Prague and Vienna as it was on the road to Nanking; it must be settled that there will be no substantial interference from London, Paris or Washington, though a few rhetorical protests might be tolerated.

Methods of Dictators

The peace which has existed in Europe since 1923 has been purchased by abandoning one Franco-British position after another. The retreat has been covered by diplomatic rearguard actions. This kind of peace might continue during a number of years. For Britain and France still hold many positions which they can, one after the other, abandon. What is more, such a peace might conceivably never end in a great war. If it continued long enough, the prestige and the power and the strategic foundations of British and French influence in the world would gradually be picked to pieces, would be dissolved and would be liquidated without a major war.

I am rather thoroughly persuaded that this is just about what both Mussolini and Hitler have in minds, and that when they talk about the decadence of the liberal democracies they mean, and sincerely hope they are right in meaning, that Britain and France have lost the will to defend their historical position in the great world. They hope, I think, to avoid a great war and to realize their ambitions by maneuvering France and Britain into a state of impotence.

And it may just be true that Hitler and Mussolini are right on this, the crucial point in the whole

Both C.I.O. and A.F.L. Attack Labor Board When Decisions Are Not Always for Them.

By DAVID LAWRENCE

WASHINGTON, Oct. 14—Both the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L., in their respective national conventions held this week in Atlantic City and Denver, agree on one thing—they don't like the national labor relations board and think it is biased.

But their reasons for disliking the labor board differ from those advanced by employers, who think the board is arbitrary and prejudiced in favor of all unions as against all employers. The C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. have a grievance which can best be stated as being a desire to have the board decide cases their way.

This business of attacking judges—the members of the national labor relations board act in a judicial capacity in countless cases—has become rather popular these days, having been formally initiated by a nationwide radio address by the President of the United States on Feb. 5 last. If you don't like the way a case is decided, it now is considered ethical and proper under the new deal to call the judge by any name you choose, or at least to contend that he is senile because he is over 70 years of age or that he was once so intelligent that he actually earned a decent income in the practice of his profession.

But the C.I.O. and the A. F. of L. are attacking the judges on the labor board mostly because the latter do not interpret the law in their favor 100 per cent of the time. The sympathy of the country might well be extended to the members of the labor board, who, after all, are trying to administer the clumsy provisions of the law, which is really unworkable if an endeavor is really made to administer it impartially. The labor unions think the Wagner act is a great thing when it helps them get members, but, when it gets into their way, then it is a very poor piece of legislation and needs amendment. The kick of the two national labor groups is against the administration of the law, but their protest in reality is against the ambiguous and arbitrary phrases written into the law itself.

The Wagner act says:

"The board shall decide in each case whether, in order to insure to employees the full benefit of their right of self-organization and to collective bargaining, and otherwise to effectuate the purposes of this act, the unit appropriate for the purposes of collective bargaining shall be the employer unit, craft unit, plant unit, or subdivision thereof."

Here is a case of delegated power which makes the labor board omnipotent. It can look over a labor situation and decide upon the vertical or industrial union as the proper unit for bargaining, thereby helping the C. I. O., or it can say the craft unit shall be separate and independent from the rest of the employees in the plant, and thus favor the A. F. of L. Such a delegation of power might be thought to be unconstitutional, because no standards of measurement have been prescribed by congress, but until the supreme court of the United States passes specifically on this phase of the law, the labor board has full power to use its own discretion.

The labor board has tried to balance its decisions, in the sense that it has tried to look at each case separately on its merits, and the result has been that the C. I. O. sometimes wins and sometimes it is the A. F. of L. But the issue is best stated in an exchange of letters recently between John P. Frey, president of the A. F. of L.'s metal trades department and Chairman Madden of labor board. Mr. Frey wrote as follows:

"In many of the industries, and particularly those employing semi-skilled labor and so-called mass production workers, there are also employed skilled craftsmen. In most instances some of the latter are members of the international union or their craft or occupation. In other instances all of the skilled craftsmen are members of their respective organizations. Almost invariably these skilled workmen have verbal or written agreements with their employers.

"In many of the industries, these skilled workers are in a minority, perhaps a small one, the outnumbering majority being so-called mass production or semi-skilled workers.

Minority Rights

"It is obvious that if a vote of all the employes were taken on the question of establishing one organization as the sole body to represent all of the employes that the semi-skilled or production workers could easily prove a majority in favor of the organization they desired. A vote taken on such a basis and under such circumstances would be a denial of the rights of a minority, the very minority who had first established trade-union organization, a minority having a prior right to consideration."

Mr. Madden replied that the policy of the labor board has been, first, to try to get the local unions to agree or to leave it to their parent organizations, and second, where there are no settlements, in this way, the board "seems plainly to have the responsibility of decision." He goes on to say then that the board is guided by the wishes of the men in the plant, "ascertained in such a way as to make their choice a free one." He adds:

"But as to just how these general principles would work out in a particular case which might come before the board, neither I nor the board can speak with finality except in the decision of our cases."

Small wonder that, when discretionary power is used in a way that hurts the A. F. of L., it loudly yells its protest and likewise, when the decision goes against the C.I.O., it jumps on the board, too. This is not the way it was intended that laws should be administered. Justice Cardozo spoke of "delegation run riot" when the NRA was before the court, and some day, when a test case comes, it is not wholly improbable that the supreme court may say that collective bargaining is all right, but congress, if it wishes to have the "appropriate unit" designated by the labor board, should specify the standards of measurement. Congress and not the labor board ought to be writing the laws of the land.

From News of Other Years

TEN YEARS AGO

It was Friday, Oct. 14, 1927.

Mrs. M. A. Porter, wife of the superintendent of the Marion County home, was elected second vice president of the Ohio Welfare conference in its annual convention at Columbus.

Rev. J. A. Carriker, pastor of the First Presbyterian church at Weirton, W. Va., accepted a call to the pastorate of the Forest Lawn Presbyterian church here.

Fred B. Scherff, secretary of the Employers' association, and C. B. King general manager of the Marion Steam Shovel Co., went to Columbus to attend a meeting of the Ohio Industrial Council.

Warden Louis E. Lawes of Sing Sing reported that Ruth Brown Snyder and Henry Judd Gray, prisoners awaiting execution for murder of the woman's husband, were well behaved and facing their fate calmly.

More than 400 Boy Scouts from the Harding area were in Bucyrus for the first annual area powwow and heard an address by Governor Donahey.

Miss Fae Witcum and Stuart E. Jones, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Dr. B. L. George, pastor of Epworth M. E. church, at the parsonage on East Center street.

Mrs. R. E. Adams and daughter, Miss Margaret Adams, gave a linen shower at their home on Duluth avenue complimenting Mrs. E. Godfrey Leffler.

TWENTY YEARS AGO

It was Sunday, Oct. 14, 1917.

Rev. Schumucker of Mansfield filled the pulpit at St. Paul's English Lutheran church in the absence of the pastor, Rev. M. I. Powell, who had gone to Convoy, his former pastorate, to install a new pastor of the church there.

Mrs. Charles Storaci 41, of North Main street died in St. Alexis hospital in Cleveland.

The Marion Questions defeated the Dayton Shamrocks on the Lincoln park gridiron, 23-0. Touchdowns were made by Anderson, Price and Unger.

Miss Viola Ernst and Arthur L. Kelley, both of Marion, were united in marriage by Rev. H. J. Herber at his home on South Prospect street.

True Liberalism

Its Spokesmen Are Pounding Away Exposing Imposters; Public Catching On.

BY WALTER E. SPAHR
Professor, Economics, New York University.

A MULTITUDE of incidents lend encouragement to persons who hope and believe that in the not distant future genuine liberalism, as distinguished from the misnamed "liberalism" of which we hear so much today, will again be recognized for its virtues and brought back to its proper place in both our public and private affairs.

This encouragement can be found in the fact that with the passage of time practically all the self-styled "liberals" have demonstrated in various ways that they are not liberals at all, in the best and proper sense of that term. They have shown that they are often reactionary coercionists, often enemies of democracy, often advocates of class hatred, often champions of a deplorable intolerance, often condemning the peaceful and intelligent ways of evolutionary processes while advocating the use and methods of revolution.

Often they have shown a ready willingness to violate some of the major tenets of genuine liberalism, regarding which they so vociferously insist that they are the true champions, when such violation seems to serve some immediate purpose.

NOT many of these pseudo-liberals have failed to convict themselves of intellectual dishonesty. Incident after incident has made all this increasingly clear to the people of this country.

Some of these "leading liberals" provided an exhibition of the nature of fake liberalism when they defended the appointment of former Sen. Black of the supreme court despite his connection with the Klan and despite his open violation of the fourth amendment to the Constitution while a senator.

Genuine liberalism is not time serving, nor opportunistic, nor is it marked by hatred towards one's fellowmen, nor by the spirit of coercion so characteristic of the governmental and social systems of earlier times.

More and more it seems clear that thoughtful people are beginning to understand quite well that much of the so-called liberalism of the preening, self-styled "liberals" of the present is not liberalism at all, and that the country stands in sad need of true liberalism.

The passage of time and the operation of economic laws have been on the side of orthodox economists, and have made the "enlightened economic liberals" appear rather ridiculous in the eyes of an increasingly critical public. The proposal to raise the standard of living by advocating scarcity, and the almost endless number of similar economic absurdities which these "liberals" have sponsored, are one by one revealing their true nature.

ENCOURAGEMENT can also be found in the increasing tendency of the public to realize and to say in a tone of disapproval that "this is politics." For the last few years one of the great games of this nation has been politics.

Practically every act of the present federal administration has been appraised by the press according to whether it was good or bad politics. The President has been spoken of almost uniformly and unblushingly as the cleverest politician of recent times. The words "statesman" and "statesmanship" have practically ceased to be used in speaking of both him and his administration.

Many people are growing sick of this game of politics and want statesmanship. Their sense of fairness, their interest in the welfare of the nation, and their unwillingness to endorse or to participate in the pettiness, dishonesties, smallness, trickiness and hypocricies of "astute politics" are turning them toward more admirable things. They want genuine, liberal statesmanship.

The constant hammerings and exposes of the true nature of the pseudo-liberalism and of the great current game of politics, and the persistent teaching of the essential features of genuine liberalism, by such true liberals as Walter Lippmann, Dorothy Thompson, David Lawrence, Frank Kent, Mark Sullivan, George Sokolsky, and several others of the same type apparently are beginning to bear fruit.

Lawful But Stupid.

At Andover, N. J., last Sunday a thousand people, calling themselves Nazis, spent the day goosestepping in fancy dress, while 20,000 spectators cheered them on.

This is lawful and we, for one, hope that it will remain lawful. It is the inalienable right of an American to call himself by a weird name and to parade in any regalia that suits his fancy.

Nazis have a right to all this, just as the Ku Klux have a right to wear nightgowns, and give themselves blood-curdling names, and utter thundering denunciations of people they don't like.

To attempt to suppress such foolery by law would be not only blatantly un-American but silly.

But the Nazis should bear in mind that an American may be acting within his rights and yet be acting like Simple Simon. That is exactly what the Ku Kluxers did. They exercised their right to perform all sorts of monkeyshines; but in doing so, they stirred up a lot of other people to exercise their undeniable right to regard the Ku Klux as a lot of silly nuisances. The net result is that mere suspicion that a man belongs to the Ku Klux is enough to make people deplore the fact that he holds public office and talk about impeaching him.

If their goosestepping and boiling and flannel-mouthed oratory serve to make people think the Nazis are as silly as the Ku Klux, what will be the gain? There are some rights that an American possesses, but which it is stupid to exercise, even if it is lawful to do so, and one of them is the right to make an ass of himself in public.—Baltimore Sun.

In New York

By O. O. McINTYRE

NEW YORK, Oct. 14—The art amo[illegible] almost lost to the metropolis. There are accomplished strollers, such as Robert [illegible] Holliday. Out of 100 walking clubs ten years ago, only a half dozen remain. About the upholders of walking are the members of the Boy Scouts.

Even that old stand-by, the 5 o'clock promenade on 5th avenue is gone. Men who used to walk from offices to clubs now go in motor cars or taxis. Kin Hubbard used to say the only way to cross a New York street was to lead a cow. The reason, of course, is traffic jams.

Plus the feeling of danger in breaking so many crossings, checkers have found that all the important corners have from 20 to 30 per cent fewer pedestrians at the peak hours. Visitors who have not been here in several years immediately notice the slow-up of the sidewalk flow.

One of the most auspicious survivors of the walking age still is Dr. John Finley of the Times, who heels off his five miles a day no matter the weather. Most of the valiants who used to circle the gravel path around the Central Park reservoir have called it a day. And are seen no more.

That odd homie of William Gillette, the octogenarian actor, on a fling of Connecticut countryside, continues to be for sale, although it represents an investment of $600,000 and an asking price of only $150,000. And for that it must be sold to the right person. Only one in sympathy with the actor's labor of love. There winds through the grounds a complete, practical miniature railroad. This was the hobby that engrossed the delineator of the Sherlock Holmes role for years. And while fascinating to children, is likely to be met with a yawn tap on most grownups. Yet unless one can show proper sympathy and agree to preserve the estate as it is, it will not be sold.

And driving along past the Gillette estate we veered off on an unusual back road and passed a broken down goat's nest of farm houses, proclaiming utter desolation. Some one in the car remarked: "What poor souls eke out existence here?" And then there was noted a "For Sale" sign and a gaunt farmer and his entire brood were assembled in a side yard, all ready to depart in a trailer, loaded with valises and bundles, for greener pastures. And we hoped better fortune.

• • •

Also one wonders when come the patrons for the jinkle-jumbles of ceramics on sale at those roadside pottery stands. Big vases of scarlet, green and yellow, large enough to take a bath in. Every day they are placed in the yard in precise geometic array and a member of the family stands in waiting anticipation. Yet in years of motoring by them I have never seen a customer.

Too, we came on an ancient ice house, rifted and ridged with age. The roof was sagging and about to cave in and the clap-board walls were silvered with the hoariness of years. The ice house, once a sort of mysterious cavern in small towns, has given away to the progress of modern refrigeration, and this was the only left-over I've seen in a decade.

Ed Swazey, of the advertising biggities, is America's No. 1 airplane customer. He, more than any other aviation layman, is a human bird of passage and always on the wing. He flies in to New York from California almost every week, sometimes twice, not to include his side trips to Ft. Worth, New Orleans, Cincinnati and where not. Indeed, nearly all of the crack advertising men are air passengers in a large way. Art Kudner even has a private plane from which he flies to and from his New Mexico ranch for week-ends. Bruce Barton is also a consistent traveler along the air lanes. Among the Hollywoodites who are giving the planes a big play is George Jessel. He flew in the other evening, for instance, to have dinner with some friends and winged westward again the same evening.

One of the ranters was rabble-rousing from his step-ladder in West 72nd, right off Broadway, the other evening. In climaxing his hot-gospeling he inquired shrilly and paused for answer: "What do we see on every hand?" And a passing smart alec in a roadster shouted: "Four fingers and a thumb, you mug!"

At The Insect Zoo

By The Associated Press

DETROIT, Oct. 14 — Folks who are "bug" about bugs are having a lot of fun at the Michigan insect zoo.

First exhibit of its kind in the world, the Lilliputian menagerie makes entomology understandable to anyone.

Housed in electrically lighted glass cages are fireflies which generate their own "electricity," ants which keep cows and servants, "ant lions" which burrow backwards in the sand to trap and kill ants, singing cicadas with ears in their front legs, wasps which build bullet-proof homes.

Insect Eaters Shown

Here also is the Chinese, or praying, mantis, whose front legs apparently folded in supplication are really waiting to snatch mosquitos on the wing. And huge black tarantulas, black widow spiders, Central American roaches as big as mice, diving beetles which eat fish, water scavenger beetles which clean up ponds, worms which make the silk for parachutes.

Since the smallest bugs have even smaller bugs that live upon and bite them, the zoo cares for the tachinid flies which lay their eggs in the bodies of harmful caterpillars, wasps which kill caterpillars and lay them away for the winter, and insects which feed on the young of other species.

To make the picture complete it also shows the snakes, lizards, chameleons, turtles centipedes and scorpions which live by eating insects and aid materially in keeping them under control.

Few Are Harmful

The zoo is "essentially educational" says Brayton Eddy, director of the zoo, and is attempting to teach that "there are more than 600,000 different kinds of insects to which names have been given—several times as many as all the fish, birds, and other animals put together—and that there are probably millions of other kinds."

It is also trying to show that only about one-half of one per cent of all insects are harmful to human or plant life while the rest either help to control harmful insects, help to pollinate the plants on which man and his domestic animals depend for food, or, at the worst, are merely harmless.

Today in Ohio History

William Z. Roll was one of the leading Republican political figures of Warren county, O., around the opening of the 20th century. He was born at Butlerville on Oct. 14, 1865.

Roll worked on a farm and attended school until he secured a teacher's certificate. After teaching six years he spent a year at the National Normal university at Lebanon, O., and then was principal of the Utica schools for seven years. Becoming general manager of the Valley Telephone Co., he entered the insurance and real estate business at Lebanon and was elected to represent Warren county in the Ohio legislature.

POLITICS BEGINNING TO BOIL IN GALION

Ging and Hartmann Jockey for Position as Campaign Gets Under Way.

Special to The Star

GALION, Oct. 14 — After several meetings political circles are gathering momentum for a campaign which will probably open within a few days.

There are four candidates in the race for the mayoralty. The Democratic ticket is headed by Roy King, mayor incumbent, seeking his third successive term.

The first of the series of public Republican rallies will be held Thursday evening, Oct. 21, Jay F. Nichols is chairman of the local Republican committee.

Headquarters of the Democrats are on the second floor of Hotel Central, where a committee met Thursday night. Dr. H. H. Hartmann heads the Democratic ticket, seeking a 10th term as mayor. He had served nine terms until he was defeated by King in 1933. Otto Snider is chairman of the Democratic committee.

G. BERNARD SHAW TO GO ON RADIO

George Bernard Shaw, veteran English dramatist with the long white beard, will be the first of a series of noted Britishers to speak on broadcasts to this country, The Associated Press reported. He will speak on Nov. 2 on "As I See It." Others listed for later talks are H. G. Wells, Lady Astor, Grace Fields and others.

Tomorrow will bring: Resumption of Dr. Walter Damrosch's music appreciation hour at 2 over WJZ-NBC; talk by Halvdan Koht, Norwegian foreign minister, from Oslo at 6:15 over WEAF-NBC; radio guild play, "Paolo and Francesca," at 3 over WJZ-NBC.

CRAWFORD COUNTY WOMAN ON RADIO

Mrs. Paul Weiler of North Robinson in Crawford county, prominent leader in rural youth activities, will speak over the radio station WOSU in Columbus Monday on "Rural Home makers and Community Service." The program is scheduled for 35 minutes from 8:45 to 9:20 p. m.

The station is located at 570 kilocycles. Mrs. Weiler's talk will be a part of the regular farm night program. She acted as judge for 4-H girls' clothing projects here this summer.

LIPPMANN WRITES ON AFFAIRS OF THE DAY

situation. For while statistically the potential power of Britain and France is overwhelmingly greater than that of Germany and Italy, the dictators are, it seems to me, justified in assuming that a war-like morale and a concentrated, disciplined organization may outweigh mere material riches. Germany and Italy do not have great reserves, but they have great striking power, whereas France and Britain have large reserves, but the reserves are not really mobilized and available. I heard some one say, it seemed to me with great discernment, that whereas Germany and Italy were now nations in arms, Britain and France were as yet merely nations with arms.

Italian and German diplomacy consists essentially of a continual testing out of the British and French will to employ their superior power. On two crucial occasions, the Rhineland affair and the Ethiopian, Hitler and Mussolini proved themselves to be brilliantly correct—it is said even against their own advisers—in their intuition that British and France did not have the will to resist. They have been testing it again and again in Spain and in the Mediterranean. In all probability they have no idea how far or how fast they will dare to move without arousing the sluggish democratic will to resist. But only this week we have seen Mussolini defy France and Britain once more with impunity, having guessed correctly that their governments dare not make good their threats.

Thus without the war the dictators achieve the objectives of war. Each successful coup makes eventual resistance more difficult and more costly. Thus it is harder to defend central Europe with the Rhineland militarized than it was before. It is harder to defend the position in the Mediterranean with Portugal and Nationalist Spain and the Balearic Islands within the orbit of the Italian and German power. These political successes must to a considerable extent counterbalance some of the value of British and French rearmament.

For my own part, to put it bluntly, I came away from western Europe with the feeling that neither Britain nor France was as yet really imbued with the will to resist the peril which confronts them. Though I should greatly have preferred to have a different impression, it seemed to me that, as compared with the relentless mobilization of men and materials and the ruthless inculcation of military morale in Germany and in Italy, the Western democracies were amazingly complacent, distracted, easy-going and wishful.

To be sure, they are arming. But whereas in the totalitarian states everything is totally subordinated to the development of military power, in the democracies it is not. Of course, this makes life in the free nations much more agreeable for the time being. But the passivity of the democracies is deadly dangerous, and if Mussolini and Hitler should come to the conclusion that the democracies are really as decadent as they profess to believe, it would be a very serious business.

It would be serious if Mussolini and Hitler are right. It would be no less serious if they are wrong. For if the democracies are decadent, then the future of the Old World is once more in the hands of warrior castes, and the civilian era, which began with the Renaissance, is concluded. If, on the contrary, the democracies are not decadent, but give the impression that they are decadent, then the dictators may at any time take a very big gamble and make a coup which would be unexpectedly resisted and would plunge Europe into a general war.

Marriage Meddlers

BY ADELE GARRISON

Dicky Is Angered by Philip's Message to Madge.

THE panic which is always mine at an unexpected telegram or long distance telephone gripped my throat muscles at Neil Gibbs' announcement. But I managed to croak, "Illness—or?"

"Neither," Mrs Gibbs returned promptly, throwing a sympathetic and comprehending glance at me. "It's your friend, Mr Veritzen. I wrote it down as the operator gave it to me, but I'll have to read it to you. Nobody yet has ever been able to read my handwriting when I have to scribble in a hurry. I can't read it myself when it's cold."

She chuckled comfortably and smoothed out the piece of paper which she held in her hand.

"It's addressed to you, Mrs Graham," she said. "It says, 'Have just learned you are returning home tomorrow. Please stop if possible at the hotel on your way down. Imperative I see you for a few minutes. Signed, Philip Veritzen.'"

Holds His Anger

I was not surprised to hear Dicky say pleasantly, "Thanks a lot, Mrs Gibbs. It's too bad to rout you out so early." He always is most careful about betraying any anger before strangers which may lead them to think he is annoyed at me. But after our hasty goodbys to our hostess of the camp, he exploded savagely.

"The unmitigated crust of that old hyena," he said. "Ordering you around as if you were a puppet in one of his plays, and he shifting you from one position to another. 'Imperative I see you!' My eye! I'll show him how imperative it is. We'll shoot through that village like bats out of hell."

With prudence born of long experience, I made no reply at all to his tempery outburst, and sat without speaking but with an attentive face turned toward him while he rumbled on angrily, summing up Philip Veritzen's ancestry, manners, faults and probable end with profane and picturesque fluency.

Finally Runs Down

He finally ran down, evidently because he had run out of expletives. Then he slowed the car enough to permit him a side glance at me.

"What's the matter?" he asked. "Well-known feline got your usually facile tongue?"

I grinned lazily at him.

"If you'll tell me where I could have inserted a word with a corkscrew," I said, "I'll apologize for not speaking."

An answering grin quirked the corners of his mouth.

"Your point," he said. "But now that I have run down, don't you agree with me?"

I bolstered my courage with the thought of Mary.

"I agree with everything you have said about Philip Veritzen," I told him. "Indeed, I have had any number of vicarious thrills in your picturesque profanity. It was almost as good as exploding myself. But—"

"I knew there was a cullud gen'l'man lurking in the woodpile," he said, but his voice told me that he was not rancorous, but was even in a mood to listen. "But what?"

"I think, for Mary's sake, we ought to stop and see what he wants."

"Oh, you do, do you?" The words were a feeble sneer, but the tone encouraged me to further defiance.

"Yes, I do, and, if you'd admit it, so do you. After all, he did say 'please,' you know."

"And what a help that is!" Dicky retorted ironically. "He put that in, just as he'd mechanically say 'sorry' if he bumped against anybody. He wouldn't really turn a hair if he'd knocked down three starving women and a dozen or two kids."

"You're right in that estimate of him," I agreed hastily, feeling in my heart that I was unjust to Neel's father, but not caring particularly because of his attitude toward Mary. "Nevertheless—"

"Spare me the long words," Dicky said peevishly. "You mean you're determined to obey old Phil Veritzen's crack of the whip."

... found herself pro- ... to the stage where she ... talk about it . . . wanted ... know; and immediately, ... upon the heels of this ... discovery, came remorse, ... self-reviling thoughts about ... to her mother.

Nina felt sick all over.

In the Plaza movies, one after- ... Cordelia had said: "How are ... and Richard making out, dar- ...?"

That had been the beginning of ...

Nina had wanted to talk and talk about him; how marvelously they got on together; how marvel- ... he was to Honey; how mar- ... he fitted into the house- ...

Cordelia had had to shush her ... the feature picture had ... And it was then that Nina ... had begun to be afraid.

Oh, To Laugh About It!

She went about then, in a paraly- ... of fear lest someone would ... it . . . Honey . . . Richard, ...

She dreaded goodnights, and ... mornings, lest he should ... her, and the warm blood ... come rushing into her ... She felt that she walked ... talked in a peculiar ... way when she was ... him, in an effort to appear ... Sometimes her lips felt ... though she had been out in a ... wind . . . stiff and frozen al- ..., when she had to reply to ... casual compliment. It was ...

And it wasn't only the effort ... to hide the signs of her, ... call it infatuation. It was ... to kill the germ at the ... of the infection. And that ... could not seem to do. It was ... though Richard were launching ... diabolical campaign to win her; ... make her suffer, and hate her- ... the more.

One night he said to Carrie ... Alstyne, right in front of ... and Nina; "I'm proud of ... Carrie. There aren't many ... who could keep their heads, ... two such beautiful women ... the house."

And Horseface had said, coquet- ...: "Are you referring to Hon- ... and me, young fella?" Honey ... giggled.

Oh, to be able to laugh about ...!

Nina thought with envy of the ... who had been herself only a ... days ago, lying all uncon- ..., between her peach-col- ... sheets, figuring it out on her ... that she really didn't love ... at all; who had been able ... curl up, and go to sleep after- ...

And she thought, with loath- ..., of the girl she was—now; all unsuspecting, and found her new stepfather.

He proceeded to go from bad to worse.

"There've been great goings on in your life since I left you that night, haven't there?"

She had to laugh.

"I'll say there have!"

He was gay and ridiculous the entire two hours he stayed.

He was no more ridiculous on four cocktails, than he was on none. That, Nina liked about him. She thought it was the only possible feature he and Richard could have in common . . . Not that Richard was ever ridiculous, but that he knew how to hold his drinks.

When he left, David said: "You won't be an old meany and let me get too crazy about you if you're going to pull a "pish tush" on me, when I was serious . . . will you Nina?"

And Nina said: "I'm never an old meany, darling, and 'pish tush' isn't in my vocabulary."

"Is 'nuts'?"

"Nor 'nuts'."

"You realize, of course, that you're practically accepting me this minute . . ."

And she said, with more feeling than she meant to: "You stick around, David Day, do you hear? You're good for me."

And she was sorry immediately, for David was no longer a medium-successful salesman of small cars, he was a king among men. Button, of the dubious ancestry, was a full-blooded wolfhound, and they strode out into the dusk with conquerors' tread.

She turned round from the door, to find Richard looking at her from half-way down the stairs.

He had on a white tie and evening trousers, but a royal blue velvet smoking jacket instead of a tail coat.

He said: "I dressed early . . . thought we might whip up a cocktail, you and I."

The old feeling of paralysis came over her.

"I've just had two," she answered, "but I think I could go another."

There were still enough makings for a fresh shakerful, in the living room.

Richard invents an errand to be with Nina, tomorrow.

admittedly in love with her own mother's husband . . . trembling at his approach . . .

She went out with Tom . . . and with every Dick and Harry who asked her. And she was so nice to David, when he came back from his trip and called up, that he appeared within an hour . . . with Button, and a happy gleam in his eyes.

She was inordinately glad to see him. He had interested her more than any young man in ages . . . before Richard Challoner appeared, of course, and she hoped against hope that his charm would help bring her back to normal again.

"Hel-lo, David!"

"Gosh, Nina, I'm glad to see you. It's been five weeks, two days, and 13 hours too long!"

That was a bad beginning.

Five weeks, two days, and 13 hours since she had walked in,

COSTS LESS THAN MANY COMPARABLE BRANDS

Just the plumpest, reddest sun-ripened tomatoes are squeezed for Country Club Tomato Juice. They're squeezed tenderly, too, to get only the most delicious "first press" goodness. This pure juice, with a speck of salt added, is Vacuumized in the can to capture every last bit of ripening flavor. One sip and you'll appreciate the difference between Country Club and any other tomato juice. Get some today! Sold only by Kroger.
